WARREN CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL
Indianapolis, Indiana

For All Who Enter . . .

Warren Central opens doors of educational opportunity. We who enter these doors face a challenging future in an uncertain world. Our experiences here give us the keys to unlock other doors—to knowledge and to broader horizons. When we leave these halls, we will seek our new environments with confidence in ourselves and in opportunities that await us.

The new Warren is a massive structure of steel girders, concrete, and brick. It is where 1050 of us spend the better part of a year. Here we can attend convocations and plays in the new auditorium with its plush seats and near-perfect acoustics and root for our team in the new 4000-seat gymnasium. It's still new, even after a year.

The Educational Plant

The new high school was the result of long range planning, accompanied by high educational ideals. Covering 74 acres on the outskirts of Indianapolis, the new Warren is prepared to accommodate the growing numbers in a growing community. For all of us and for all who will come, it's a place to learn, to play, to compete, and to grow.

Our cafeteria which can seat 750, serves a dual purpose. Besides serving as a lunch room, it is used as a study hall in the morning and afternoon.

Standing at the end of a hallway, we can look down a corridor that stretches for the equivalent of two city blocks; and we can take our pick of the 60 classrooms on Warren's two floors.

The library accommodates 180 students. A lounge area is for students' research or for reading newspapers and magazines. A wealth of information is accessible to all.

The Power of Words

Steve Surgoth discovers the true power of words in Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.

Officers of the Library Club, Mary Ruth Keck, Bill Wood, Susan Schildmier, Kathy Keith, and Karen Sexton, are instructed by Mrs. Johnson, library clerk. Not pictured is Steve Corey.

Ron Waltz, Dallas Jones, Barbara Heron, Sandy Reno, Mike Frazier, Phil Bohall, Roger Brackett and Jackie Johnson are increasing their power of words as members of the debate team.

The knowledge of words is the most important asset we can possess. People must be able to communicate with their neighbors—at home and across the seas. This understanding is necessary before anybody can accomplish anything.

At Warren we are becoming aware of the power of words in our own lives. Words and those who manipulate them put pressure on us—the teacher, the textbook, the advertiser, the newspaper editor, the television actor and our friends—all these use words to win our minds.

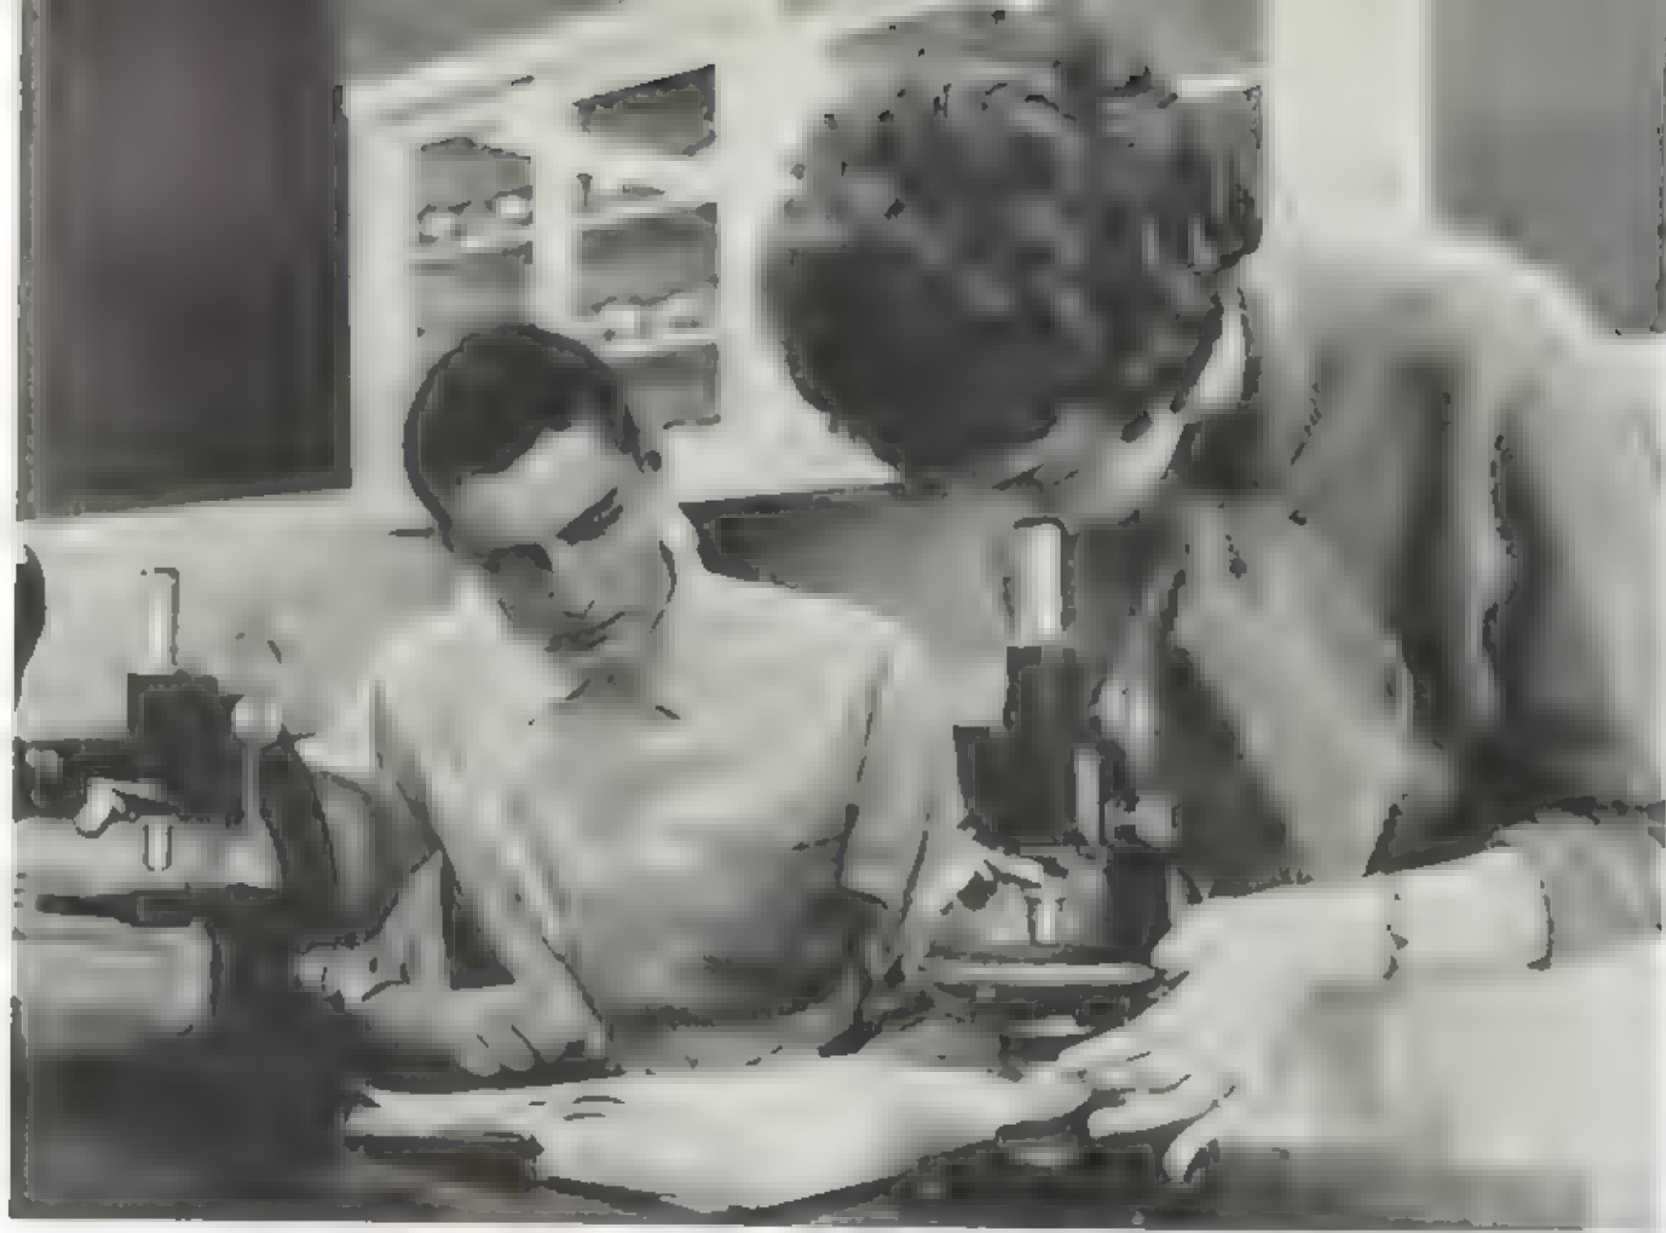

For our part we are discovering the value of a broad vocabulary in our English classes. We are observing that our debate team developed a skill with their words and turned in a winning record during their first year. In the library we find a constant source of new ideas. As students of a foreign language we discover the problem when one language won't always translate into another. We are learning

Now a student of French, German, and Russian, Oksana Petruniw improves her pronunciation in the sound booth of the language lab.

During the literature semester of sophomore English students study the novel "Silas Marner" by George Eliot. Mrs. Mary Ruth Fowler's classes recited the story with the village of Raveloe in miniature. Students Jack Thompson, Anne Fisher, Tom Cochran, Glen Coleman, and Patty Wells examine the cottages they helped to construct.

A course that is being offered for the first time at Warren Central is physiology. This course deals with the study of the functioning of the systems of a human body. The students found this not only challenging, but interesting as well.

The Exact Sciences

The progressive steps in the dissection of a 'stuffed perch' are demonstrated by Virginia Berry, with a Net. Letitia and Mike Nye watch. Biology students observe the anatomy of many life forms of life. Their subjects may be animal or vegetable, living or dead. Such class experiments prepare students for examining higher forms of life.

While a first year Chemistry class ponders over an experiment, Mr. Hayes watches for mistakes that should be corrected.

The pupils of Geometry I classes at Warren diligently try to solve many difficult problems.

In recent years, science and math have come to the forefront in the field of education. Competition between nations to attain supremacy has brought about this emphasis on the exact sciences.

Whitman stated, "The world is full of miracles." In a science or math class a student may become acutely aware of the miracles of nature recognized by the poet.

Courses offered by the science department range from elementary physical science to advanced chemistry and physics.

The math department took an active part in the school curriculum with algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. The slide-rule was an essential part of these classes.

Math and science may be the keys to the future, and a mastery of them may open doors to success and advancement for the individual. With the fundamentals of these courses behind him, one can continue to further his education.

Gwenne Bumarsky demonstrates the properties of inertia by striking Mr. Sprunger's head with a hammer indirectly, of course.

The Practical Skills

Every person should have some means of self-support, whether it be in business and education or in the homemaking world.

Warren's business education department was created to instill in young people the ability to compete in the business and education world. The department is equipped with electric typewriters, manual typewriters, duplicating machines, adding machines, and switchboards. Included in the course selection are shorthand, typing, office practice, bookkeeping, and business arithmetic.

The home economics department gives girls a greater knowledge in skills and a greater appreciation of the many phases of homemaking in society.

Each day girls learn new methods of cooking, sewing, safety, and the art of gracious living. Practice in the social graces begins to develop wholesome attitudes for the girls who learn to solve many of their homemaking problems. A challenge arises in each division of the homemaking areas.

The first year typing classes often type to recorded music. This helps them with their speed and teaches them to type with rhythm and accuracy.

Barbara Briley works to keep papers and numbers straight in bookkeeping class.

Three semesters of typing enables students to work with many of the office machines they will be using in the future.

The last six weeks of child development is devoted to home economics. This class is required for all sophomores.

Women are kept well-informed on complete cooking units. Here you are learning the culinary arts.

Fashion Board members keep us up-to-date on the latest fashions. They are Jeannie Hess, Diana Farrell and Sharon Cahill. The girls represent Ayres, Brooks and Wasson's, respectively.

Students Develop Vocational Skills

Many classes at Warren are designed to help encourage each student in his own field of interest.

Industrial Arts contributes to the goals of developing interests and understanding industry in social and economic life.

Beginning art classes pursue the concepts and techniques of modern art. More advanced art students make decorations for dances and many posters for school activities.

Physical education develops many useful skills and desirable health habits, as well as co-ordination of the body.

The music department serves the school and the community. It helps to develop good taste in music and a love for the finer things in life.

Agriculture consists of judging contests and taking field trips. These events assist the student with his vocation in farming.

Warren's modern facilities are a big asset in teaching the varied skills to many eager and willing students.

Members of the string quartet Carol Christy, Mike Palmer, Margaret Ennis, and David [unclear] practice for a concert.

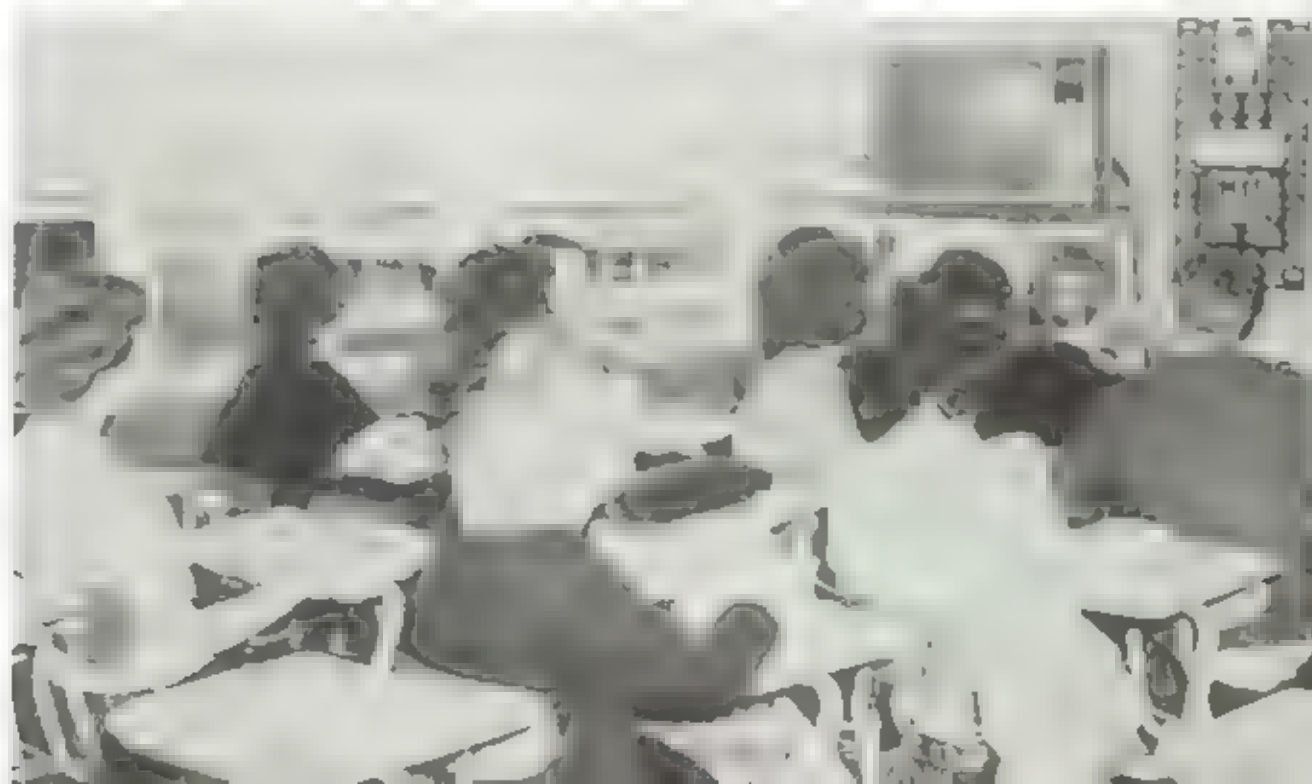

Art classes help students develop their various artistic talents. They learn to put their skills to use in still life, modern art, ceramics, and commercial art.

This year at the governor's association, participated in a Mock Home of Representatives. Members of the association are also members of the Junior-Senior League. This year, they are expected to hold meetings.

The TV classes are set up in a room, and the students have access to this type of uniform classroom teaching.

Last spring Gwynne Bujarsky and Harold Apple represented Warren Central as United Nations delegates in New York.

The Shrinking World

Our world is shrinking rapidly through the knowledge we gain from the media of communication and transportation. Through its social studies classes, Warren helps prepare students to be responsible citizens in a democratic society. Warrenites learn of past events which have created our present world, and of current happenings in our present world which are rapidly affecting our future.

By participating in the mock Congress the model U.N., and discussions in their classes, students were able to gain first-hand perspective of the political, economic, and social situations in our modern world. Television allowed students to see history-on-the-spot and some classes participated in TV instruction.

Awards were given to deserving Warrenites to better acquaint them with their shrinking world. Students also won a trip to the U.N. and to Boys' and Girls' State. The DAR award encouraged good citizenship and an interest in social studies.

Lynn Strane received the Daughters of American Revolution award based on service to the community.

Steve Theil, Steve Miller, Milton Fowler, Vic Clevenger, Gene Jaynes, Susan Pert, Linda Loman, Sue Ruble, Susan Merrick, and Linda Butrum were chosen to participate in Girls' and Boys' State.

The Daily Routine

As another unforgettable year passes at Warren, we can look back on the honors we won and social events of which we were a part.

One of the familiar phases of school life is the fads and fashions. Some are seen again year after year, while others seem to fade away as the seasons change.

This year beige, black, and green trench coats, knee-tickler skirts, and pegged pants led as the most popular fashions. Many girls added to the weight of their books by carrying "jumbo size" purses. Shoes of all styles and colors were sported by both guys and gals.

The bouffant hair-do, accented with barettes and ribbon bows, retained its position as the favorite among the girls. The flat-top seemed to be the most popular with the boys.

"Steady shirts" and blouses were worn by many couples. Angora of all colors and tape of all sizes and shapes were used by the girls to decorate and reduce the size of their steadies' rings.

Janet Adams, Sharon Foust, and Terry Saver are shown entering the building on a chilly November morning. They are sporting Warren's most popular fashion trench coats.

Monkey Rattle polishes his Spanish boots while Cheryl Bartholomew in novelty flats, Terry Foust in desert boots, Sheri Bremer in tennis shoes, Gene Jaynes in hook shoes, and Sara Yater in pike boots look on.

One of the outstanding events of the Mardi Gras was a neck wrestling bout. Two performances were given and a different team won each time. The boys standing on the floor are Harold Apple, Jerry Franke, Jim Edson and Larry Franke. Also participating but not in the bout were Jerry Abernathy, Dick Kirby, Ron Vexles and Paul Schies.

Larry Burns and Mary Martin look on as Barbara Poole and Tom Sponcil feed each other a hot dog in front of a Mardi Gras concession stand.

Carl Hunt and Jerry Franke were chosen through the student body vote as the king and queen of the 1961 Mardi Gras. This year's float was sponsored by the P-TA.

Every school day begins with home room period. During this time devotions are given and announcements are made. The rest of the time is spent going to club meetings and for study

Homeroom allowed time for additional studying, which proved to be much appreciated, but it was not wholly intended for studying. At this time many extra-curricular clubs meet for business or for special programs. Homeroom begins the day. We may go to the bookstore for supplies or get permission to stop at our lockers. A locker to a person is a luxury that isn't common in many schools, but in our school it is one of its favorable features.

For a pleasant break in the six-period class day, there is lunch—for which all students have one-half hour of the extended third period. A convenience for the students as well as for the kitchen employees is the tray conveyer belt. It moves the trays back into the dishwashing areas.

Taking the students home are the buses which are lined up promptly at 3:30 p.m. A quick trip home is possible only by the large team of buses. Sometimes the daily schedule is re-arranged for a convocation. Whether for a speaker, a movie, a choral demonstration, or a "pep" session, the students take the break as a boost to the morale.

Different Events Vary

As the day goes on students can be seen stopping by their lockers. Here Charles Hopkins and Jim Luther talk over the news of the day.

Lunch period seems to be the favorite time of day. Students clear off their tables by placing their trays on the conveyor belt.

Warrenites stream to our spacious new auditorium from all directions for another enjoyable convocation. Varied programs were presented during the year.

School's Daily Routine

The typical scene at the end of the school day pictures a host of Warren Township's 45 buses lining up to transport the students home.

Every morning James Greenwood and David Harmon have the little known, but important, task of raising the flag

Mr. Edward Cuddy, principal, examines the certificate for a Special First Class Commission awarded to Warren by the State Department of Public Instruction

Students stand in line waiting to put their coats in the FBLA coat check before one of the home basketball games.

Varied Activities Mark Daily Life

Our flag goes up over Warren Central every morning at 8:30 to signal the beginning of another school day. The days are pretty much the same, except when the routine is broken by convocations. At one such convocation Warren was presented a special First Class Commission by Dr. Edgar Smith of the Indiana Department of Public Instruction. Warren was one of the twelve high schools in Indiana to receive this award. It is based on degree qualifications of teachers, teacher-pupil ratio, library facilities, and other areas of judgment.

A coat check at basketball games relieved fans of their coats and saved them the trouble of having to go down under the bleachers to retrieve them. Everyone looked forward to the sock-hops after home games where they learned many new dances and met their friends.

At Christmas, students brought food and donated money to help those that are less fortunate than themselves. The Feed-a-Family project was sponsored by the Student Council.

For all those who enter the halls of Warren, there are many extra activities to occupy a student's daily life.

Oksa, Petruniw examines the Christmas tree in the foyer and the boxes of food ready to be given to a needy family.

Sock hops are an important activity of school life. After the end of the home basketball and football games, students gathered in the cafeteria to dance, see who came with whom, and practice the latest steps.

Each year during February, Warren presents its annual Valentine Tea. This year was the 30th consecutive year for this tradition, which was sponsored by the Warrenettes. As seen in the picture, girls escort their mothers through a receiving line followed by a musical program. Then the guests are served tea and cookies.

As the year draws to a close, seniors realize that a new life is opening before them. Some are planning to complete their education by going on to college, while others are planning on getting started in the business world as soon as possible.

This year will be among the most outstanding for the graduates of 1962; they put in their orders for their cards and invitations and took time to be measured for their caps and gowns.

With the completion of the new gymnasium, Warrenites saw their team end with a winning record. For the seniors, this was the first time during their four years at Warren.

Looking back over their high school days, seniors will remember such events as sock hops, ball games, convocations, and school dances that added so much to their enjoyment of life at Warren.

The administration will remember the Class of '62 for a number of things; among these will be the date of February 16. This was the first day in fifteen years that all senior boys were present.

Seniors Prepare To Face Future

Members of one of the variety show acts rehearse their routines. "Moods and Melodies" had not been presented for several years.

Each year the WIGWAM staff presents a skit which is aimed at promoting the sales of the yearbook. This year's skit was a take-off from the "Roaring Twenties" and it was chock-full of chuckles. Pictured from left are Cheryl Bartholomew, Sally Brown, Charles Ashbrook, Barbara Darokett, Tim Marsh, Diana Fairley, Mike Miller, and Sue Nicewanger.

Although it is only February, it looks like the real thing for the class of 1962. At the beginning of the first semester, students were measured for their caps and gowns. Deane Rosenberger exhibits an inner glow as Patricia Boldman adjusts his cap.

Classroom is a place of personal experience. A close look at the classroom reveals the experience of students at Moorhead.

ACTIVITIES

For All Who Participate...

Many clubs and organizations at Warren offer a variety of interests and activities to all. These organizations teach responsibility and leadership and provide fun and fellowship with our friends. These activities have helped us to grow in many ways.

Warren Home For State Convention; Councils

Winger, Nila Shrum, Diana Farrell, Joan Krentler, Kathy Melton. Back Row: Jerry Altmeyer, Frank Rasmussen, Carl J. B. Starnes, Steve Truitt, Harold Apoll, Marcel Hilder, Carl Kasper, Steve Gable, Lee Lowe, Bob Benz, Ronette Young, Gary Ottum, and Roger Hooke. The Student Council met each Wednesday morning during homeroom period.

The sponsors of the Student Council are Mrs. Maude Siebert, and Mr. Obert Piety, seated. Acting as officers on this year's council are: Diane Wallace, secretary; Linda Stange, secretary; Tim Marsh, treasurer; Pam Sims, president; and Larry Frank, vice president.

This year Warren Central was the host to the State Student Council Convention. The guests included about 1,260 students from all over the state.

At the Convention groups of students from different schools tackled problems and topics of interest to the student representatives in order to learn more about their school government, along with state and national affairs. Lunch was served during two periods in the cafeteria. A one-act play by the Dramatics Club entertained half the group while the other half ate lunch.

Students serving on the Council are elected from their respective homerooms. The representative has an alternate to serve in his place during absence. Under the direction of Mrs. Maude Siebert and Mr. Obert Piety, students plan and sponsor activities such as dances, convocations, sock hops, Courtesy Week, elections of queens and cheerleaders, and Yard-Parks Clean-Up Campaign.

Sock hops gave Warren students a place to go after home football and basketball games. Another project of the Student Council this year was to re-evaluate the requirements for the honor roll, in order that more deserving students might be recognized.

Govern Student Body

Doris Jones, David Archer, Jim Carroll, and Vic Clevenger. As usual the senior council this year was busy with the ordering of senior caps and gowns, and the things which will mark the closing of the graduation day. The Senior Prom, from May 1 to 3, 1954, was the occasion of high school life for the Senior Class.

Hall, and Michael Davis. The junior council representatives were chosen from their homerooms to represent the junior class in the school during the school year. Mr. Elder McKenzie, was the junior sponsor of this year, and helped the class in its projects. Two of the biggest projects for the juniors were the selecting class rings and the Junior Prom.

ALPHA HI-Y—Participation in the United Nations mock assembly and promoting the ideals of honesty and leadership are part of the program of the club. Officers are Larry Franke, sergeant-at-arms; Tim Marsh, treasurer; Ron Voyles, president; Lynn Dick, chaplain; and Jim Carroll, secretary.

Alpha and Beta Hi-Y Provide Training, Service

BETA HI-Y—The Officers of Beta Hi-Y find it stimulating to work out at the YMCA. Jim Beckham, treasurer; Charles Yotter, chaplain; Jon Leavitt, secretary; Willitt Fischer, vice-president; Jim Cahill, president, and Steve Windle, sergeant-at-arms flex their muscles.

The Alpha Hi-Y is a nation-wide club for junior and senior boys. Its goals are to promote higher ideals, to stress the importance of closer ties with the church, and to create good Christian lives.

The Hi-Y is also affiliated with the YMCA. The club is permitted to sponsor dances and other social events at the East Side Y.

The sponsor of the club this year was Mr. Charles Trees. Under the supervision of the sponsor the club helped conduct dances, contributed to the mile of dimes and backed a clothe-a-child campaign. The club aims to create, maintain, and promote a higher standard of living throughout the school and community.

Like the Alpha Club, the Beta Hi-Y is also a nation-wide club, and is joined with the East Side YMCA. Any sophomore boy who desires may enter the club, without any scholastic or personality requirements. During this year, under the guidance of Mr. James Lurtey, the Club offers training in service and higher ideals. The Club also co-sponsored dances and helped with religious programs given by the Bible Club.

Tea Highlights Warrenettes' Year

Serving both the school and community, the Warrenettes promote high moral standards and direct social activities. The Warrenettes consists of senior, junior, and sophomore girls. Each class level elects its own officers to direct the operation of the club in which they are associated.

Club sponsors for this year are Mrs. Carol Montgomery and Mrs. Mary Ruth Fowler. Under their direction and supervision the club annually sponsors the mother and daughter Valentine Tea, Fall, Spring and Christmas Dances, and donates to the Feed-a-Family project.

The biggest event of the year for most girls is the Valentine Tea. Here the mothers and daughters get acquainted with school administrators, club sponsors, and other members. This is one of the biggest social events of the year.

This year the Tea was on Sunday in order that mothers who work might attend. Refreshments were prepared and served for the event by the cafeteria staff under the supervision of Mrs. Maude Siebert. Music and entertainment was given by the music department.

During the tea the girls had a chance to take their mothers through the receiving line where they were introduced to the principal and vice-principal, members of the faculty, and the school board.

SENIOR WARRENETTES—Officers of the Senior Warrenettes met in the home economics department's newly-decorated living unit to discuss their plans for the next meeting. Sharon Wilson, president, outlines the agenda and schedule of coming events for Kay Roberts, sergeant-at-arms; Jeannie Hess, secretary-treasurer; Sharon Cahill, vice president; and Faye Vandenberg, chaplain.

JUNIOR WARRENETTES—Finding projects of interest for Warrenettes on the junior level is one of the tasks of the officers. Julie Price, chaplain; Doret Matthews, secretary-treasurer; Paula Brown, president; Romonda Barmore, vice-president, and Sheryl Schmid, sergeant-at-arms, discuss ideas on how to get all junior girls interested in attending Warren Central events and in participating in activities.

SOPHOMORE WARRENETTES—Sophomore girls were quickly encouraged to join their school's all-girl service organization and to elect officers of their own division. They assisted with a large number of Warrenette projects. Organizing ticket sales for the Fall Dance are Carolyn Wilhelm, president; Mary Fran Dick, vice-president; Carol Schakel, chaplain; Nita Roschelle, secretary-treasurer, and Donna Cole, sergeant-at-arms.

Warren students received recognition by being selected for membership in one of the honorary clubs.

Leading the honoraries is the National Honor Society. Students must have a high scholastic average, along with outstanding qualities of leadership, citizenship, and service, to qualify for membership. NHS provides a scholarship for two outstanding seniors, one of which goes to an Honor Society member. The club raised money for the fund by sponsoring a chili supper before the last home basketball game.

Students who excelled in the field of journalism became members of Warren's Quill and Scroll Chapter.

This year, members were invited, together with Manual's Quill and Scroll, to participate in a joint initiation at Warren. In the spring, Quill and Scroll helped sponsor the publications banquet, where staff positions for next year were announced.

National Thespians are hard-working troupers who have had sufficient experience behind the foot-lights. Warren's Thespian Club initiated its new members in the early spring, after, as Dramatics Club apprentices, they had earned their honors by being in a series of two and three-act plays. The result is one of the largest Thespian troupes in Warren's history.

Encourage Excellence In All Work

This year has been a busy one for the Dramatics Club, sponsored by Mrs. Verna Sykes. This club has for its aims to encourage young people to participate in dramatics, through which they learn co-operation, loyalty, and responsibility. They may also acquire a life-long hobby that will give them pleasure, a sense of belonging to a group, and an ability to become critical movie and theatre-goers.

The club's first play was "The Trysting Place," which was played for the State Student Council Convention and for the P-TA Mardi Gras. Later in the fall the club gave "A Lucky Penny" for the student body.

In the spring came two one-act plays, "Roughly Speaking" and "Fog in the Valley." The finale of the year was the Senior play "You Can't Take It with You."

For many, these were the opportunities to earn ten points for membership in National Thespians, an honorary dramatic organization.

DRAMATICS CLUB—The Dramatics Club this year kept a busy schedule working on plays or individual dramatic interpretations. Officers are Susan Woodworth, secretary; Charlotte Watkins, treasurer; Linda Loma, president, and Bill Freeman, vice president. Among the activities of the Dramatics Club were the two one-act plays, presented in the auditorium in March. The "one-acts" provided entertainment for the student body, and allowed members to collect points toward Thespian membership. Participating in one of these skits are Kathy Melvin and Mike Davis.

Doug Wninger, Kathy Keith, Harold Apple, Janet Humfeld, Carl Kassen, Kathie Longshore, and Gloria Sherban all were caroling last Christmas for the Hi-C Club, donating their time to cheer-up others.

Bible Club Inspires Spiritual Attitudes

Every morning before classes, the Hi-C Bible Club members offer devotions over the public address system, lasting from five to ten minutes. Each Warren student started the day with a prayer and a hymn. Besides being the largest club at Warren, Hi-C is also the largest high school Bible club in the world, having over 600 members. This year's club helped sponsor the Feed-a-Family project, and also did group caroling at Sunnyside.

At the monthly meetings, various speakers sponsored by the Youth for Christ organization talked about personal problems faced by teenagers. Two of the officers of the club were sent as representatives from Warren to the annual Youth for Christ convention in Chicago. Co-sponsors Mrs. Nancy Wright and Mr. Paul Parkison assisted the officers with planning of the meetings and the various activities of the club.

Leading one of the Hi-C Bible Club meetings is Paula Prall, president; with Milton Fowler, treasurer; Sue McCowan, secretary, and Harold Apple, vice-president, seated on stage.

Red Cross, Nurses Club Provide Aid for Others

The Junior Red Cross is one of the oldest clubs in existence at Warren. Its membership is open to anyone who is willing to serve and help with the needs of others. Within the club this year members undertook various projects in a effort to comfort those who were in need.

The club worked this year at several jobs in connection with the down-town chapter. One of the projects was to wrap gift boxes and send them overseas to needy families. In several ways the Junior Red Cross helped provide for the less fortunate.

The Future Nurses Club consists of girls who wish one day to be awarded a nursing cap as a registered nurse. Each year the need for nurses has been more demanding, and these girls recognize the growing need for trained and qualified help.

In an effort to relax the need for trained nurses, the Future Nurses club encourages girls to become "women in white." As "candystripers," many of the girls assist in hospitals as nurses' aides.

In addition, girls in the club often take field trips or hear guest speakers at their meetings. Many of the members assist the school nurse, their club sponsor, during their free periods.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB—Looking over a course of study in nursing schools are Susan Pert, treasurer; Stephanie Tukala, president; Sammie Ottenbacher, secretary; Susan Traub, vice-president.

RED CROSS—(Seated) Mary Crickmore, secretary; Bill Wood, president; Kaye Higgs, treasurer. (Standing) Patty Heath, sergeant-at-arms; and Jim Rittman, vice-president. Red Cross Club officers confer on plans for a future meeting.

Clubs' Activities Supplement Classroom Training

The Future Teachers of America is a nationwide organization whose main function is to promote student interest in the teaching profession. The need for teachers is an ever-growing problem. As future teacher-hopefuls, club members learn the benefits of a teaching career.

One of the most outstanding projects is the cadet teaching program. Under this program seniors take one period each day to assist regular teachers at near-by elementary schools. Sometimes the cadets help prepare assignments and grade papers.

With an industrial field trip and a trip to the state convention at Muncie, students gain interest and information as members of the Future Business Leaders of America. This organization tries to encourage understanding of how the world of business operates. Members are usually on the business course, planning to enter some area of business as a career.

Girls in Future Homemakers of America have an eye to the future, whether they land a man the day after Commencement or ten years later. All girls in FHA are learning to become efficient managers of comfortable homes, for themselves or for a family.

The girls see interesting demonstrations and take field trips to observe new developments in home furnishings. This year the girls visited the Indianapolis Home Show.

Still another group which is already making an investment in the future is the Future Farmers of America. Warren's program in agriculture includes several courses supplemented by the activities of FFA.

Boys participate in various activities such as judging contests and field trips. Most members have also had considerable experience in 4-H Clubs.

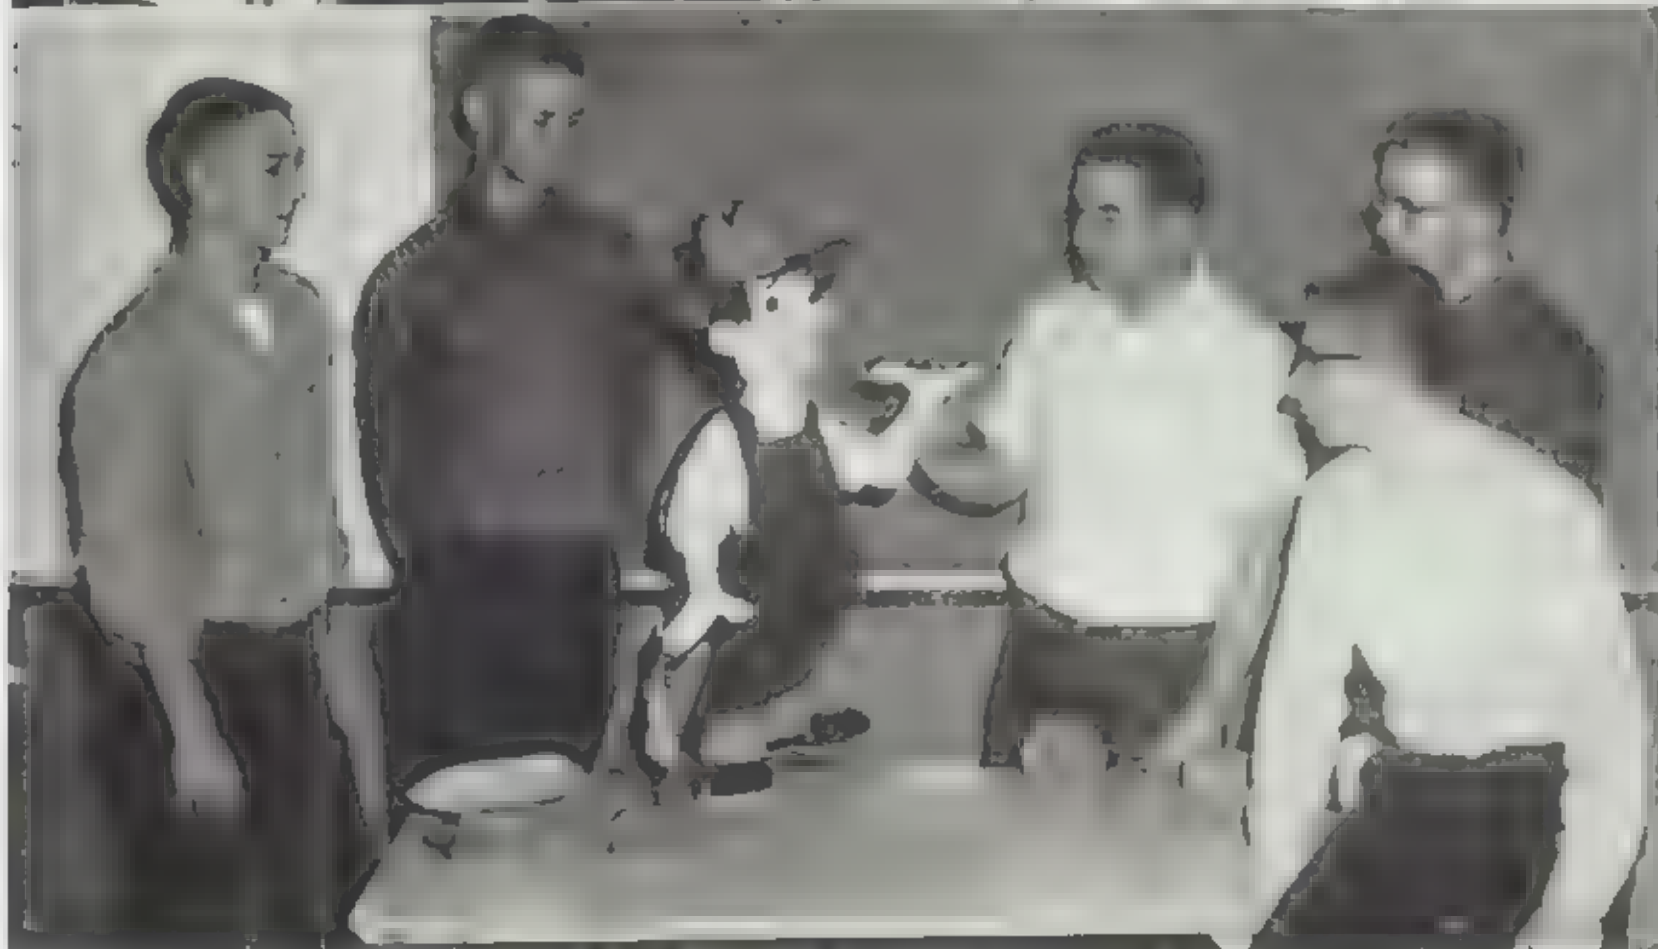

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA—Tomorrow's teachers may go into their first jobs with a little better knowledge of what it's all about, thanks to the work of the FTA. Left, practice in front of the classroom are Gene Jaynes, vice-president; Carol Cooper, secretary; Wayne Johnson, treasurer; Dawn Wood, president.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA—Students who anticipate careers in business get good preparation through the program of the FBLA. Plans for the next meeting are made by Karen Jacoby, secretary; Jerry Franke, vice-president; Joan Bazez, treasurer; Joe Duncan, (seated) president; Sandy Cazell, co-secretary; and Cheryl Bartholomew, co-treasurer.

While Looking to Future

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA Planning a field trip and special speakers were among the duties of the officers of FHA. This year's officers are Sue Rosenbarger, parliamentarian; Sandy Hill, treasurer; Beverly Moore, secretary; and Sally Yocum, president. Not pictured are Nancy Skaggs, vice-president; and Rosemary Hamore, program chairman.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA—Calling the FFA meeting to order are its officers: Willie S. Lake, secretary; Tom Franke, reporter; Larry Franke, president; Earl Coleman, vice-president; and Fred Palmer, treasurer. The group met monthly to plan projects and to discuss issues that affect the future of farming in Indiana and the midwest.

Clubs Provide Extra

HISTORY CLUB—This year's History Club officers were kept busy with their planning of the monthly meetings and discussions. With the aid of their sponsor, Mr. David Sausser, they promoted interest in history and current events among club members and social science students. Jim Carroll, secretary; Tim Marsh, vice-president and treasurer; and Harold Apple, president, discuss world affairs and the agenda for the next meeting.

SPANISH CLUB—Any student taking Spanish is eligible for membership in the Spanish Club. Its interest helps to bring to the attention of the members the cultural values and customs of the Spanish-speaking peoples. This year's officers are (seated) Janice Fechtman, secretary; Kay Holt, vice-president; Nancy Neal, president; Nancy Dohnbostel, parliamentarian; (standing) Dick Ernst, sergeant-at-arms; Judy Martin, chaplain; and Jim Rittman, sergeant-at-arms.

FRENCH CLUB—Another club appealing to students with a special interest and knowledge is the French Club, whose members include beginning and advanced students. At their meetings the students learn songs and traditions of some of the countries where French is spoken. The officers, Jack Chaney, vice-president; Sue McAllen, treasurer; Susan Hilber, secretary; and Janis Anderson, president; agree that far-flung places are not quite so far when viewed this way.

Activity Outlets For Individual Interest

Through the activities of the History Club, its members experience first-hand knowledge in American heritage and culture. The club includes students who major in Social Studies and encourages those who are interested in history as a career. Its aim is to promote interest and participation in all areas of history.

The French Club at Warren is open to all students of the second year of French. It is organized to further knowledge in the French culture and customs. This activity also gives its members an opportunity to use their language in an environment other than the classroom.

The Spanish Club, El Circulo Espanol, established to promote interest in the lives and customs of the Spanish-speaking lands, is open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors in their second year of Spanish. As a project, the club sends money and other articles to a Mexican boy. The members also carry on correspondence with him.

As a result of these clubs, Warren hopes to elevate the students' interest and knowledge in these fields.

Officers of Mu Alpha Theta, Ron Waltz, secretary; Vic Clevenger, president; and Jack Chaney, vice-president, explain a problem at one of the club's meetings.

Mu Alpha Theta Mathematics Club encouraged students with an ability and a genuine interest in mathematics to prepare for a future career in that field.

Members of Mu Alpha Theta must be either a junior or senior with an average of B or higher. They must have completed four semesters of college preparatory mathematics and must have enrolled in the fifth semester.

This year Mu Alpha Theta, sponsored by Mr. Robert Ledger, had several guest lecturers, discussions of math topics by members, and a trip to the Allison computer division.

Pawns, knights, and queens were among the chief interest of members of the Chess Club. Warren's Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Joseph Tansey, aided members in developing the power of concentration by participating in chess games with other students.

Chess Club officers, Frank King, secretary treasurer; Craig Hill, president; and David Masters, vice-president, intently study a chess board to plan their moves for a future game.

The main purpose of the Marion County Teenage Safety Council is to promote traffic safety among teenagers. Its representatives from Warren are Carl Kassen, Vic Clevenger, and Steve (left). Steve is also vice-president of the council and has had various policemen speak before Warren Drivers' Club.

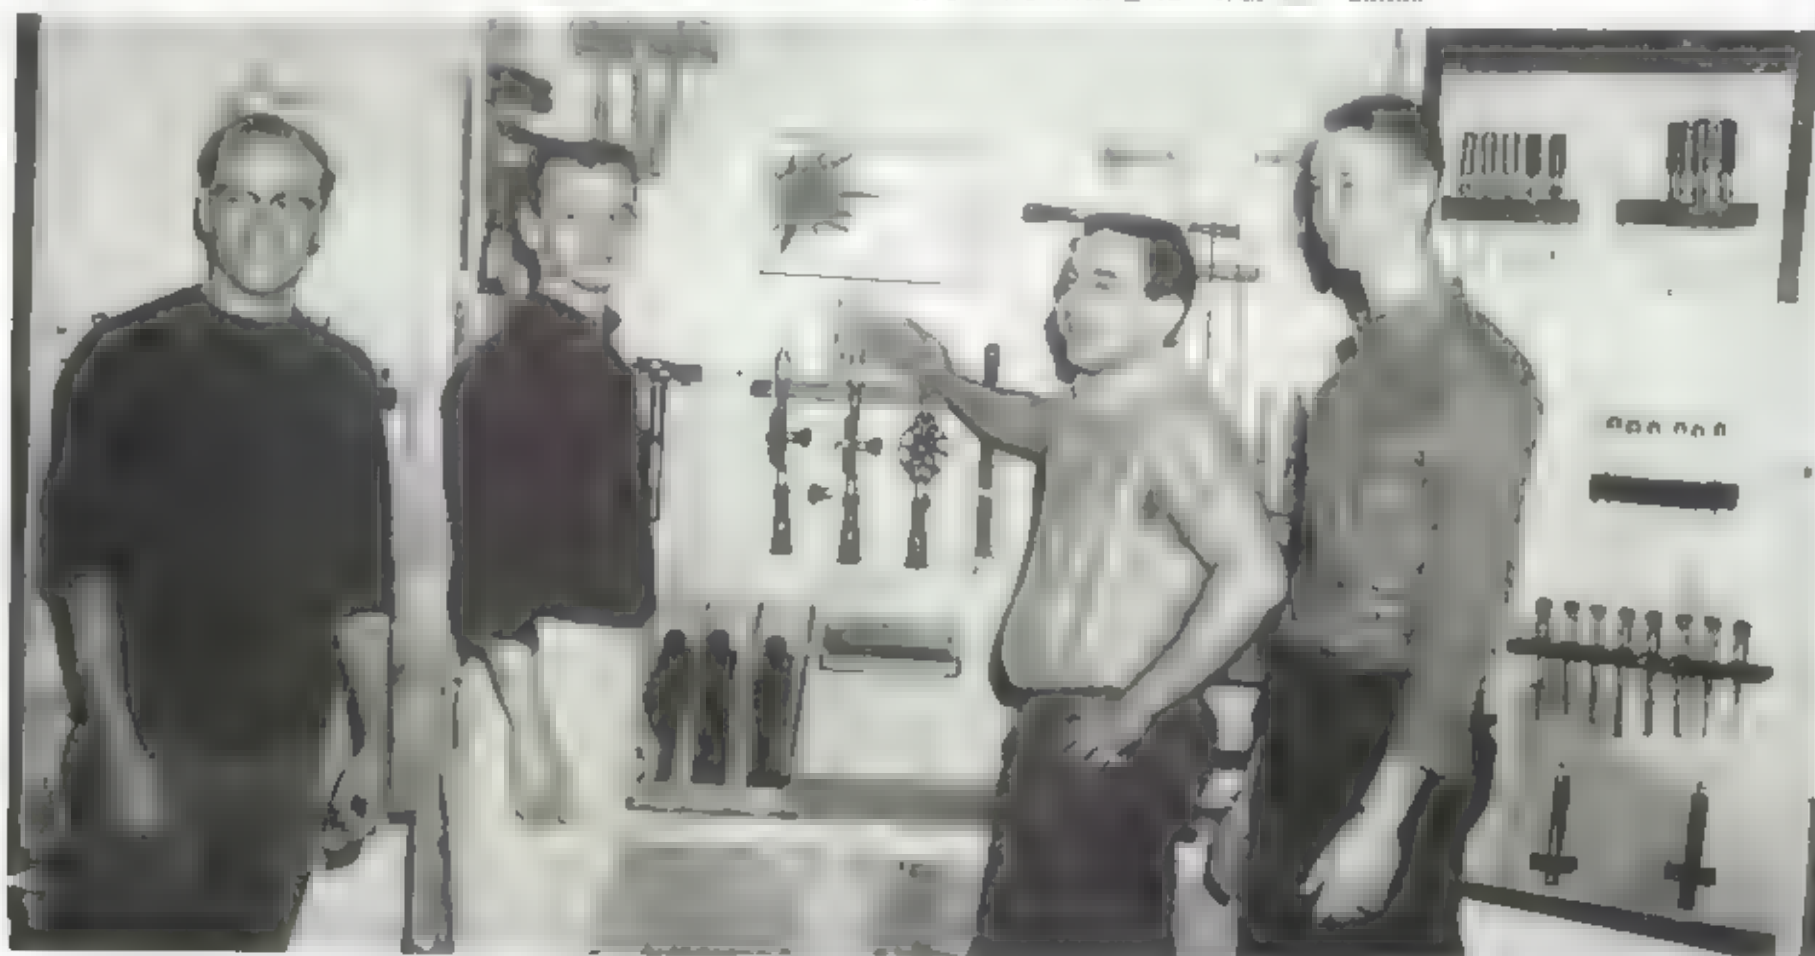

Today more and more teenagers are learning to drive and are receiving their licenses. In order to promote safe driving for teenagers the Warren Drivers' Club strives to stress the importance of courtesy and respect to others on the road. Warren's Drivers' Club consists of young men and women interested in educating the public to the fact that the majority of teenagers are good and intelligent drivers.

In order to help the students with the goal of safe driving, their sponsor, Mr. Alan Miedema, helped conduct safety checks in the student parking lot at different intervals, to make sure students' cars were in excellent condition. Another activity of the Drivers' Club was participation in the Marion County Teenage Safety Council. Two representatives from the club were sent to represent Warren at the monthly meetings.

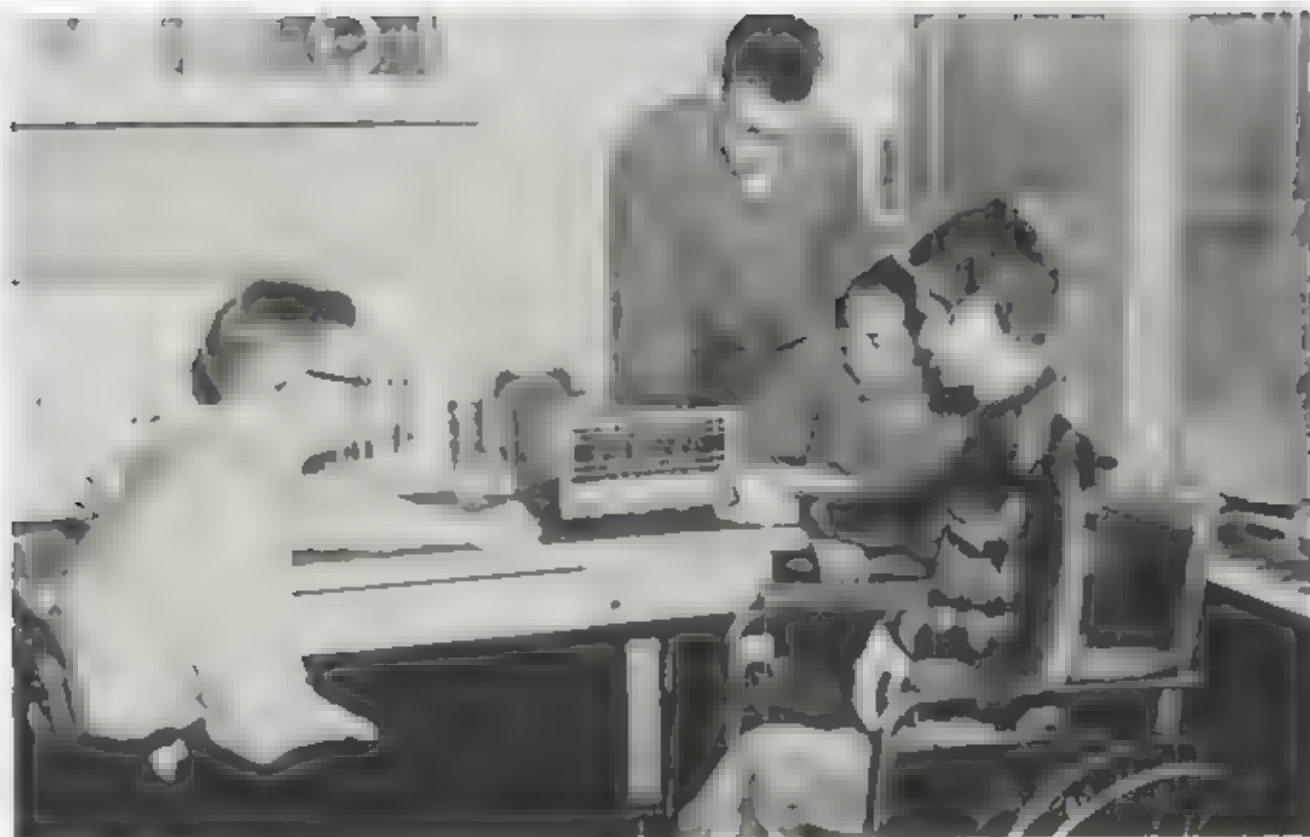

This year the Industrial Arts Club was as busy as ever taking field trips and having a specific project. The object and purpose of the club is to familiarize its members with industry. With this the first year that the building has been completely finished, it has offered more facilities and help in the club's projects.

Safe Driving Promoted by Drivers' Club

INDUSTRIAL ARTS Among those participating in this year's projects are the officers: Bill Overbeck, secretary-treasurer, Mike Muehle, vice-president, John Peterson, president, and Tom Frank, sergeant-at-arms. One of their big successes was the sale of black derbies with gold "Warrior" bands.

RADIO CLUB—A group of students in the school building are working on their receiving-sending station. A group of this project are: Officers: Ben Bingham, treasurer; Allen Ashhart, president; Bob Lusby, secretary; and Bob Claycomb, president.

Club Tries for 'Ham' Radio Station

Studying to be ham radio operators can be an excellent way to use extra time. Boys interested in radio who belong to Warren's Radio Club all agree that they seldom grow tired of the endless experiments and satisfactions of accomplishments which they receive in the club.

This year one of the most important projects of the club was a start toward the eventual purchase of their own radio station. This project would, of course, take money for the equipment for a transmitter. In order to raise money for their project the members of the club sold Warren Central pennants to students during homeroom periods.

To promote scientific ideals is the objective of this year's Science Club. Among other activities, the club frequently hears key speakers of the science world. Each member must have a love for science and the knowledge for advancement in the field. Usually the members have projects of their own in which they discuss their objectives and problems with other club members. Mr. Max Meise, sponsor of the club, has many projects in which each member can participate. This year's Science Club is hoping for a field trip to Lilly's.

SCIENCE CLUB—Future scientists discuss their projects with a speaker. A group of students are participating in giving Mr. Max Meise a gift. Steve Surgoth, secretary; Jack Chaney, president; and Tom Wetz, president.

Officers of the Lettermen's Club and girls' Pep Block handed out their copies to promote school spirit and cheer at the athletic contest. (First Row) presidents, Sally Smith and Harold A. ... (Second Row) ... (Third Row) Myron Hinder ... and Lynn Dick, Lettermen secretary

The girls' Pep Block had new outfits this year to coincide with their first appearance in the new gym. Girls bought their own black and gold reversible blouses. Matching mittens came from proceeds earned by selling Christmas bows, and "Warrior" headbands completed the picture. Black and gold flash cards arrived near the end of the season, and Warren had the court's first card section.

A feature in contrast was the boys' Pep Block, all in white shirts and white engineers' caps. The boys provided that needed depth to swell the volume of the cheers.

Members of the Lettermen's Club also helped boost school spirit by serving the athletic program. A letterman is any boy who has earned an inter-scholastic award. The club strives to promote a wholesome athletic program, to give athletes a chance to regulate the awards system, and to foster a better relationship between the players, coaches, and administration.

Lettermen were responsible for ushering at home basketball games and providing escorts for Sports Queen candidates. They planned and assisted with several awards dances.

A newly organized group of girls called the Warriorettes made a pert addition to the band and the majorette corps this year. They marched at all home games and presented a variety of colorful performances for the fans.

By Serving Warren

The Girls' Pep Block, in their new reversible black and gold blouses and headbands, performed at all home basketball games and at County and Sectional tournaments.

Band and Orchestra Put Much Emphasis On

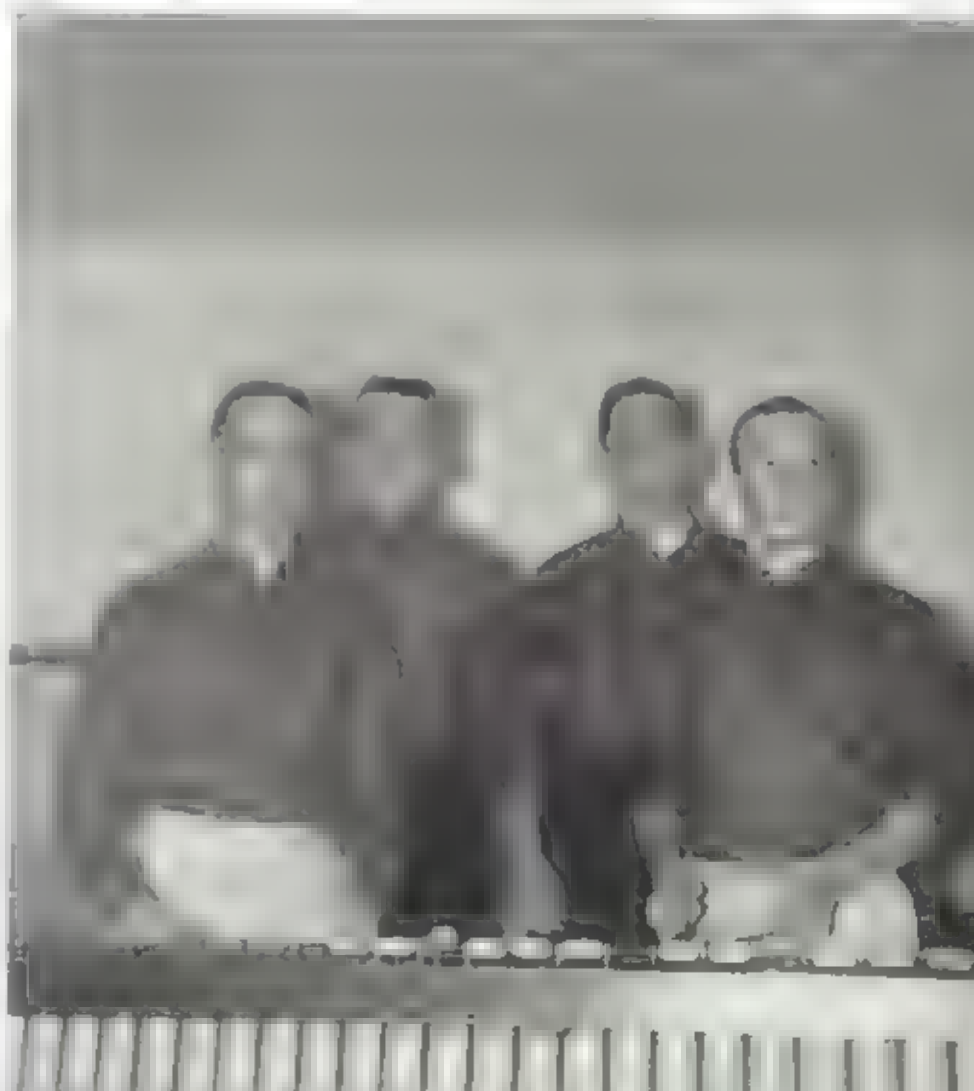

Few students realize the amount of work put in by members of the band and orchestra to make these groups ready for performance. These instrumentalists frequently give up part of their vacations and spend long hours outside of school preparing for a show or contest.

This year the band participated in the Veterans' Day Parade November 11, the Christmas parade November 18, the Yards-Parks Clean-Up Parade in April, and the Marion County Band Festival. The band not only marched at the home football games but also appeared in full uniform as a "pep" unit at the home basketball contests.

The orchestra also has had a busy schedule through the year. Members of this ensemble have participated in school convocations, benefits for other schools, and the Five Star Orchestra Festival. This year the festival was at Muncie. The orchestra provided accompaniment for many of the numbers and routines in this year's "Moods and Melodies" variety show.

Proceeds from the show went to the instrumental and vocal music organizations which are constantly in need of new outfits, equipment, and new music. Mr. Edgar Axsom, band director, and Mr. Bruce Fowler, orchestra director, also aid in the music education of children attending Warren Township elementary schools.

To help maintain discipline among the ranks and to provide leadership the members of the band elected officers. Attendance at all performances was a must, and these officers saw to it that all were present. Jim Carroll, vice-president; John Smither, secretary; Mike Walsh, treasurer, and Willard Lamm, president, discuss band appearances at home basketball games.

Vocal Ensembles Grow in Number and Volume

If the growth of Warren's vocal ensembles is any indication, there is much to be expected from the five major singing groups. The 50-voice choir entertained at many convocations and participated in the Christmas and Easter services. With the Warrentones they sported new reversible satin stoles for the first time at the P-TA Christmas program.

The Treble Tones, a girls' octet, generally excel with the light touch and the sweet sounds. Girls who would like to be in the Treble Tones no doubt start with the Girls' Choir.

The 12-member Madrigals, a versatile mixed group, include in their repertoire songs from musical comedy as well as original Madrigal music. During the year the Madrigals perform for many activities for the school and other organizations such as churches and civic groups. They performed at the Student Council convention at Warren this year, entertained at the Valentine tea, and participated in the State Ensemble contest in which they ranked in the upper ten.

Susan Pert, editor-in-chief of THE WARREN OWL, types copy for the next issue while Sharon Cahill, business manager, balances her accounts for the 1961-62 school year. Susan Merrick, managing editor, hands copy for the paper's final issue to the "chief" for her approval and initials before sending it on to the printer

Owl Staff Meets Deadlines

Mary Ellen Ferverda, News Bureau chief, demonstrates the proper form of preparing copy to correspondents Dottie Curry, Eary Rose, Sherry Harlin, Bea Craig, and Ellen Dille

Part of the work of any large organization is the dissemination of news—or letting the public know what's going on

At Warren Central a large portion of this task goes to the News Bureau, a staff of six advanced journalism students, who try to tell Warren's story to the community

The News Bureau is mostly student-organized with a student bureau chief. Each member is assigned as a regular correspondent to one of the Indianapolis daily papers or one of the several suburban weekly papers. Assignments covering the news events and features of the school take into consideration the reading public of all these papers. With these stories the Bureau may provide its own pictures with the aid of student photographers in the Audio-Visual Aids.

Throughout the year the correspondents planned "campaigns" of publicity for school events like the "Moods and Melodies" variety show. They released stories on honors awarded to individual Warrenites. With features on classroom activities they told the story of what really goes on inside a school building.

With Aid of Print Shop

Using the newly acquired facilities of the Warren printing department, the 17 issues of the OWL were set on the linotype machine and printed on the press by Mr. Ronald Kubit and his students enrolled in printing.

As a fund raising project September 29, the OWL staff sold gold mums with black ribbons at the Homecoming football game with Howe. They published an unscheduled paper with pictures of the queen nominees.

Student Directories in blue and white were sold for 50 cents in January with each student's name, address, and telephone number arranged in alphabetical order.

For each issue, editors made layouts of the finished page for the next issue. Sometimes the page wasn't printed exactly as was planned.

Reporters scurried to get information for stories and then came the struggle to find the right words for the lead, or first paragraph.

Typewriters could be heard to ring in the OWL Roost, the office in room 127, and pencils went over the printed copy for typing and grammar errors.

With eager anticipation, journalists waited for the proof to come back from the printer. Paste-up day was the hectic day when proof was cut into stories, given to each page editor, and then pasted into place with fingers crossed that it would fit.

Everyone breathed a little better when it could be said, "It fits; quick, get me some glue." All pasted down, the proof was sent back to the printer to set up in galleys and finally to the print shop for the finished copy.

OWL columnist Kaye Higgs types copy for the printer while Paulette Smith, Mike Ross, Susan Fink, Linda Evans, and Karen Jacoby look on. Others are editorial assistants Sherill Von Spreckelsen, Keith Blackwell, and Marilyn Koch.

Warren printers take pride in their workmanship. Mike Payton (far right) measures a story. Larry Rigsbee adjusts the press mechanisms, Jerry Wade examines the first copy, and the OWL goes to press.

Interested in boosting circulation, Cheryl Jester, Mary Jo Davis, JoAnne McClarren, Sharyn Stohler, Dick Hoy, and Bob Pritchard address copies of the OWL to other schools.

Yearbook Staff Learns New Skills as 1962 Wigwam

Members of the WIGWAM staff worked most of the year to produce this year's book. They learned how to work together, solved problems, and met a deadline and the fun of the process.

Carol Cooper, editor of the WIGWAM, shows the dummy for the 1962 yearbook to assistant editors Leslie Gil and Roberta Humphries.

Business was their business. Larry Roper, advertising manager, shows a layout for the yearbook to assistant manager, Larry Finkbe, and staff.

Goes to Press

The yearbook staff could be seen working during the sixth period each day on the WIGWAM for 1962. After some aimless wanderings at first they soon learned their responsibilities, and everyone always had plenty to do.

This year's staff presented a skit before the student body in order to promote sales. They also had a dance as a money-raising project to help pay for the costs of the larger book. Members of the advertising staff visited local business establishments to close old accounts and contract for an ad in the 1962 book.

As deadlines drew nearer, there was mass confusion in room 127. Everyone hurried to prepare copy and pictures by the prescribed date. The entire staff was made up of seniors during the first semester, and for them this was to be the best book ever. For the juniors who entered as understudies in January, it was to be a good book that gave them ideas for even better ones to come.

Finally, with all the work in, there was nothing to do but sit and wait, sort pictures, collect bills, and plan for distribution. Yearbooks were distributed during the last days of school, while everyone eagerly sought their friends' autographs.

Sally Dinwiddie and Cheryl Bartholomew, editors of the opening section, plan pictures to tell the story of the year. Deane Rosenbarger, photographer, offers a few suggestions of his own as they plan the week's schedule.

Get the identifications when the picture is taken and save a lot of trouble. Dave Archer, photographer, helps identify a student for Peggy Hubble and Diana Farrell, organization editors, and Lynn Strane and Suzy Sicking, sports editors.

Album section editors had many a face to place. Gemma Uberto and Gwynne Bujarsky were senior editors; while Sue Nicewanger were editors of the underclass section. Sheri Bremer was faculty editor.

FACULTY

For All Who Teach...

To our teachers, Warren means grading papers and preparing lessons to challenge unwilling minds; but it also brings a feeling of accomplishment. With modern teaching aids and facilities, our faculty was able to offer a wider selection of courses and better instruction.

Administrators Keep Operation Smooth

Looking pleased with the first results of our new IBM system of grading, Mr. Overt Piety, vice-principal, and Mr. Edward H. Cuddy, principal, consider the advantages of automation.

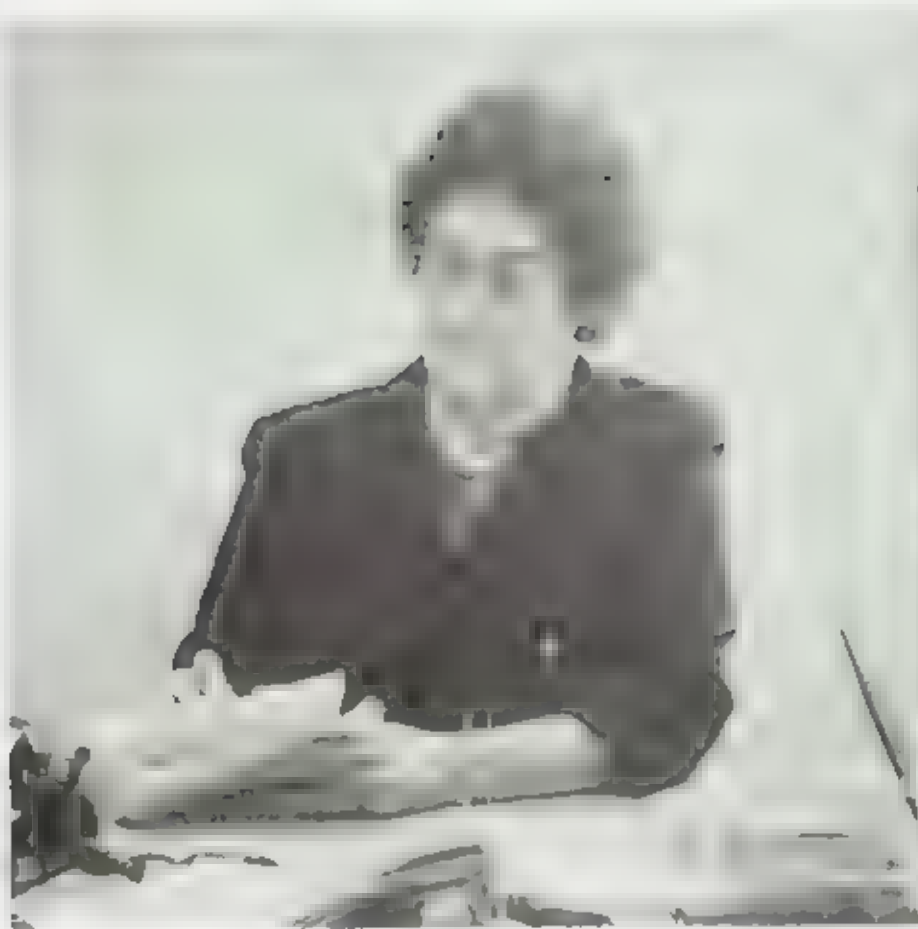

Principal Edward H. Cuddy has many responsibilities which contribute to the smooth operation of our school. As head of the administrative staff, he is at all times gathering and relating new teaching methods to the members of the faculty. Mr. Cuddy received his A.B. degree from Franklin College and his M.S. degree from Indiana University. He has also done advanced study at California State Polytechnic College. He is an all-round sports fan and enjoys playing golf. Standing over six feet tall, Mr. Cuddy is a man we look up to and respect.

Serving as vice-principal, Mr. Overt Piety takes on some of the duties of principal. As a member of our faculty for seven years, he has served as both dean of boys and assistant principal. For Mr. Piety, summers mean work, too. During this time he arranges the following school year schedules for the faculty and student body. Mr. Piety attended Indiana State College where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees. During his busy summer he also finds time for some hunting and gardening.

As superintendent of Warren Township Schools, Mr. Austin E. Walker is responsible for the operations of all schools within the Metropolitan School District. Mr. Walker makes major policy decisions and confers with the principal in hiring faculty members. The Board of Education sets the budget for the school year, meets with Supt. Walker in deciding issues for improvement of the schools, and approves other important decisions. At present, the Board plans a new junior high school and an additional elementary school.

With work beginning this year on a new junior high school, Warren Township school board members review plans for a new elementary school. Discussing this issue are Messrs. George Yotter, Wayne Foster, James Sykes, Robert Anderson, Norman Hilkene, and Superintendent Austin E. Walker. Completion of the junior high school is anticipated by fall of this year.

Although the position of Dean of Girls keeps Mrs. Maud Siebert busy, she also serves as co-sponsor of the Student Council and manager of our federal lunch program

Serving his first year as Dean of Boys, Mr. Clifford Gates faces many challenging problems, which include the supervision of attendance, guidance, and boys' discipline

Mr. W. L. Giesing, athletic director, is seen here discussing the basketball schedule. Mr. Giesing also sponsors the Letterman's Club.

Mr. F. L. F. is the owner of Western Television and a large of audiovisual aids. This includes a set of film and projectors to classes and providing public address equipment to vocations.

Teachers Show Interest in Helping Pupils Succeed

Supervising discipline in the halls, monitoring in the lunch room, sponsoring clubs and extra-curricular activities, and running a well-organized homeroom are just a few of the outside helps offered by the members of our faculty. With a new school and new equipment, the students faced many new problems, but with the help of a well-trained, interested staff, we are able to cope with these.

The main goal of the faculty is the preparation of students for the future, whether it be a college education or a position in business.

MR. EDGAR L. AXSOM, supervisor of music for Warren Township, keeps a full schedule as director of the junior and senior high school bands. Mr. Axsom attended Indiana University where he received his bachelor of music and master of science degrees. The majorettes and Warriorettes are also under his supervision.

MR. EDWARD BALDWIN advises students to keep their accounts in order in his bookkeeping, business arithmetic, and business law classes. In his spare time he enjoys swimming and is an avid fan in the stands. Mr. Baldwin attended Indiana State College and Butler where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees.

MRS. LINDA BARNES instructs Warren girls in the techniques of child development, housing, and consumer buying. Mrs. Barnes also sponsors the Future Homemakers of America. She received her bachelor of science degree from Ball State Teachers College. Girls in child development have frequently had Mrs. Barnes' two-year-old daughter assist in demonstrations.

MR. RONALD R. BENZ specializes in the field of mathematics. He received his A.B. from Indiana Central and did advanced study at the University of Dayton. Mr. Benz, now in his first year at Warren, is teaching plane geometry and algebra to many sophomore and junior students.

MR. JAMES M. BOSE, biology instructor, also takes an active part in the sports activities at Warren. A former Big Ten wrestler himself, he is head wrestling coach, and assists with the varsity football team. In his spare time, he enjoys hunting and sky diving, a skill he acquired in the Army. Mr. Bose attended Indiana University.

MR. JOHN D. BOWSER taught algebra and plane geometry during the last year. He is also athletic equipment manager. Baseball, reading, and working in the yard are a few of his outside activities. Mr. Bowser obtained his bachelor's and master's degrees from Ball State Teachers College.

MR. PAUL CONWELL teaches biology, the basic course in science. During the summer he assists with driver education. Mr. Conwell enjoys such outdoor sports as fishing, hunting and golf. He has attended Butler and Purdue, where he received his bachelor of science degree and is presently working on his master's degree.

MR. ROBERT COOKSEY instructs one of the newest courses being offered at Warren this year: power mechanics and transportation. Mr. Cooksey is an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman. He was graduated from Ball State Teachers College where he received his B.S. and M.A. degrees.

MR. GENE D. CROSIER, sponsor of the Industrial Arts Club, attended Ball State Teachers College where he received two degrees in industrial arts. As the teacher of machine shop, he instructs students in the uses of metal. During his time off, he enjoys such activities as golf, tennis and water sports.

MRS. BETTY L. DeVOL'S first year as sponsor of the Pep Block has proved to be a successful one. She is also responsible for the cheerleaders and is a member of the convocation committee. An enthusiastic English teacher, she earned her degree at Anderson College and her master's degree at Ball State. Mrs. DeVol likes all types of outdoor sports.

MRS. LOURENE T. DODSON teaches Spanish to her many foreign language students. She also encourages them to join the El Círculo Español which she sponsors. Mrs. Dodson attended DePauw University where she received her A.B. degree. She also has a major in home economics from Indiana State College.

MISS JULIA FAUCETT, as art teacher, supervises her students in the art department who assist with decorating for many of the school activities. With this additional work her students learn more about the fundamentals of art. Miss Faucett enjoys jazz music. She received her A.B. and M.S. from Franklin College and Indiana University. She also holds a degree from John Herron Art School.

MISS PATRICIA FERRY is teaching her first year of German and English. She has visited and lived in Germany where she gathered a full knowledge of this language. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Indiana University. In her leisure hours Miss Ferry enjoys playing the piano.

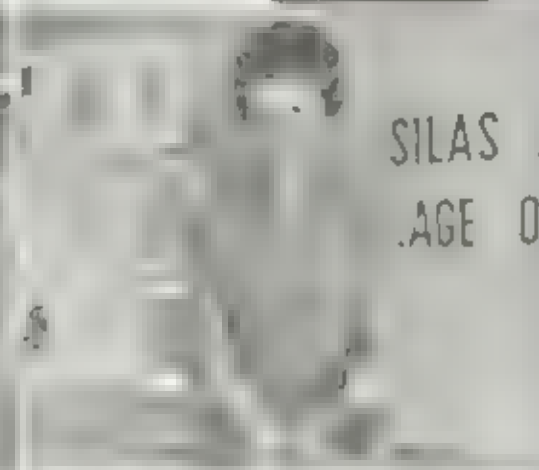

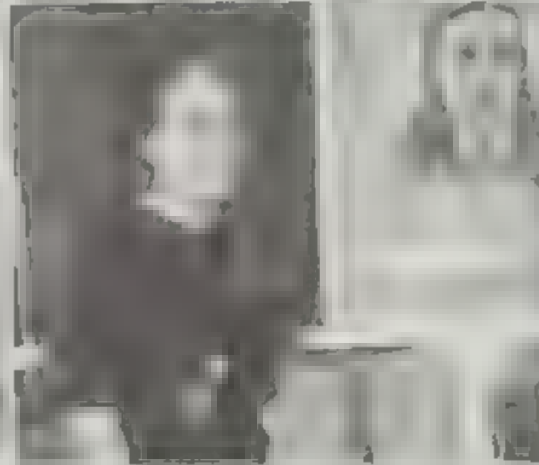

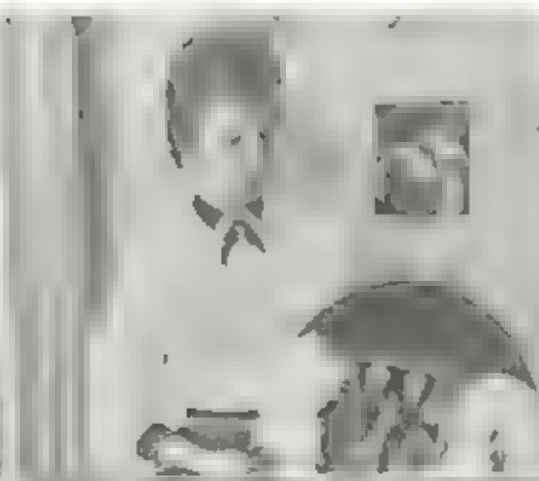

MR. DONALD FOREMAN is kept busy teaching four different subjects during the school day. American history, sociology, world history and economics. Mr. Foreman is head baseball coach and assistant wrestling coach. He attended Indiana University where he received his bachelor of science degree.

MR. BRUCE FOWLER is in charge of the orchestra and string quartet and teaches string music in the township schools. At Indiana University he received a bachelor's degree in violin. He also attended Butler, and spent a year at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Brussels, Belgium. For sports, he enjoys fishing and swimming.

MRS. MARY RUTH FOWLER instructs sophomore students in the required subjects of English composition and literature. This year her students reconstructed the village of Raveloe on a smaller scale. She is also co-sponsor of the Warrenettes. Mrs. Fowler obtained her bachelor's degree from Indiana Central and at present is working on her master's degree at Butler.

MRS. LOLA M. HANGER attended Valparaiso University where she received her B.S. and did further study at Indiana State College. Mrs. Hanger enjoys traveling and has visited most parts of the United States. During the warmer weather she likes to work in her flower garden. She teaches beginning typists how to overcome the hunt and peck system.

MR. VONN HAYES, sponsor of Future Farmers of America, teaches classes in vocational agriculture and chemistry. In the past he has also taught an adult evening class in agriculture. Mr. Hayes has earned his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Purdue and Butler Universities, respectively. During his spare time he enjoys woodworking and fishing.

Faculty

MRS. LOKILE HICKS teaches advanced typing, shorthand, and office practice to many students in preparation for a business vocation. Her knowledge in this field is very helpful to the FBLA club, of which she is sponsor. She received her A.B. and M.S. from Indiana State College and Butler. Mrs. Hicks has also done further study at Chicago University and Ball State.

MR. VIRGIL KIRKPATRICK, co-sponsor of the Lettermen's Club, is also head cross-country and basketball coach and assistant track coach. Mr. Kirkpatrick is now in his second year of teaching sophomore English. He is interested in all types of sports and all good music. He attended Earlham and Ball State and obtained the bachelor of science degree.

MR. RONALD L. KUBIT is serving his first year at Warren as the printing instructor. Since the print shop acquired a linotype machine last year, Mr. Kubit devotes part of the school day to production of items such as programs, bulletins, directories, and The Warren OWL. Mr. Kubit enjoys bowling, golf, photography, and juggling. He received his bachelor of science degree from Ball State.

MR. ROBERT LEDGER instructs students in the advanced study of senior mathematics, trigonometry, and solid geometry. His teaching of mathematics is carried over to his sponsorship of the math club, Mu Alpha Theta. Mr. Ledger obtained his B.S. and M.A.T. degrees from Indiana University.

MR. JAMES W. LURTEY is serving his first year on the faculty as teacher of senior classes in government. His various hobbies include photography and stamp and coin collecting. Mr. Lurtey has also taught geography and economics for one year in Derby, England. He attended Indiana and Columbia Universities where he obtained his B.S. and M.A. degrees.

MRS. HARRIET E. MCGUIRE helps prepare seniors for college in her English literature and composition classes. When away from the classroom, she enjoys reading and gardening and is fond of dogs. Mrs. McGuire attended Indiana University where she received her bachelor of arts degree.

MR. ELDON K. MCKENZIE is serving his first year as a member of the faculty. Along with sponsoring the Junior Council, he is the junior class counselor which includes helping the students with class schedules and different problems. Mr. McKenzie received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Indiana University.

MRS. CLARICE M. MEANS, in addition to being sophomore counselor, prepares many senior students for marriage through her family living classes. She has studied at Butler, Indiana State, and the University of Nebraska and has received her bachelor of science degree. In her spare time she enjoys working with 4-H clubs, stamp collecting, and livestock raising.

MR. ALAN P. MIEDEMA sponsors the Drivers' Club and also instructs classes in driver education. Mr. Miedema coaches reserve football, tennis, and intramural basketball. He enjoys such activities as reading, golf, and tennis. At the present, he is working on his master's degree at I. U. He earned his B.S. in education at Ball State.

MR. MAX MEISE teaches the fundamentals of physical science to his students. Under his supervision, Science Club members take field trips, plan convocations, and generally promote interest in science. Mr. Meise attended Indiana University where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees.

Faculty

MRS. CAROL MONTGOMERY is the assistant dean of girls, as well as being a member of the English department. She co-sponsors the service club, Warrenettes, who in turn sponsor the Christmas Dance and the annual Valentine Tea. Mrs. Montgomery was graduated from Butler University. Off duty, she likes to sew, read, and listen to music.

MR. CHARLES W. MOORE is in charge of all vocal music groups, which include Madrigals, Warrenaires, Trebletones, choir, and girls' choir. As a member of the convocation committee, he helps plan all musical programs that are presented before the student body and other groups in the community. He attended Jordan College of Music and Butler University, and is doing doctoral study at IU.

MRS. HELEN E. MOORE has every English student at Warren at one time or another during the year. In charge of the reading laboratory and the developmental classes, she strives to improve the reading rate and the comprehension of each student. She received her B.S. degree from Ohio University and also attended Wilmington College and Butler University.

MR. HERMAN J. NOLTE, driver education teacher, assists student drivers with the safety check on their cars, and issues parking permits to cars that pass the check. He likes working around his home and in the yard. Mr. Nolte is the chairman of the driver education teachers. He received both his B.S. and M.A. degrees in physical education from the University of Pittsburgh.

MR. PAUL W. PARKISON, along with teaching typing I and II and college prep typing, is also co-sponsor of the Hi-C Bible club. Mr. Parkison enjoys such outdoor activities as fishing and boating. He attended Ball State Teachers College where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees.

MRS. PATRICIA PULSIFER attended Butler, Indiana University, Akron University and Wayne State University. Before becoming a member of Warren Central's English department she taught English in an Embassy school in Morocco. Mrs. Pulsifer enjoys golf and also likes to play bridge in her spare time. At the present she is teaching junior English.

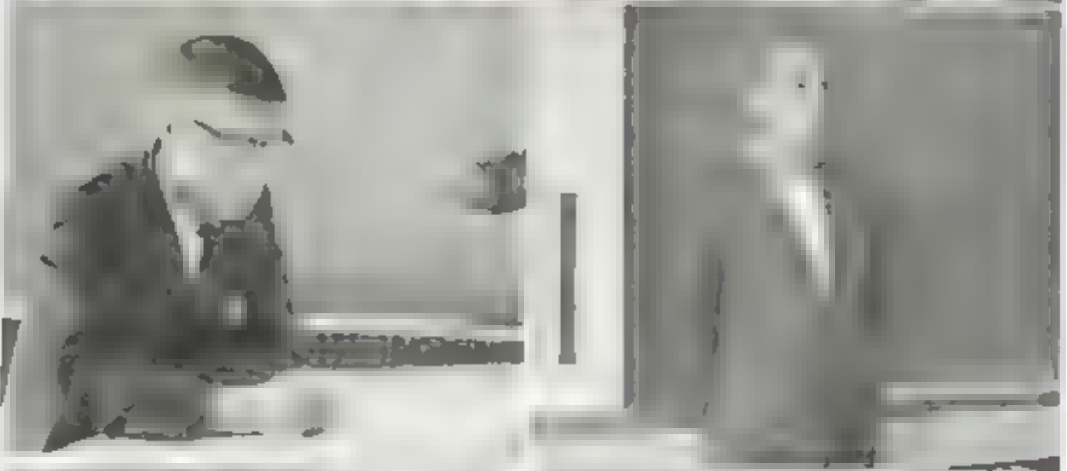

MR. K. L. RETHERFORD received his A.B. from the University of Illinois and his B.S. from the University of Washington. He also attended the California Institute of Technology, Butler, and Cornell. Mr. Retherford is teaching chemistry during his first year on Warren's faculty and enjoys taking pictures and camping.

MRS. ITA RICHARDSON, sponsor of the 4-H Junior Leaders, teaches foods and clothing to girls enrolled in the home economics classes. She earned her bachelor's degree from Ball State and her master's degree from Indiana State College. Mrs. Richardson likes trying new recipes as well as sewing and listening to music.

MRS. PATRICIA RILEY taught literature and grammar to the students enrolled in her senior English classes during the first semester. Mrs. Riley earned her bachelor's degree from IU.

MR. RONALD E. ROACH keeps the boys' Pep Block yelling loud and strong. He teaches the principles of American government to his students, and helps prepare them to be better citizens. Mr. Roach likes to play golf and also enjoys reading. He attended Indiana State where he received his bachelor's degree.

Faculty

MR. WENDELL ROBERTS is the classroom instructor for driver education. He explains to the beginning driving students the rules of the road, the operations of an automobile and traffic signs. Mr. Roberts enjoys all sports and likes to hunt and fish. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Indiana Central and Indiana University, respectively.

MR. DAVID SAUSSER teaches both world and United States history to the students of Warren Central. He attended Indiana University where he received his bachelor's degree. Mr. Sausser's interest in his subject includes his extra-curricular activity of sponsoring the History Club.

MR. DONALD SAYLOR teaches many areas of the life sciences to Warren students. As sponsor of the Future Teachers, he is in charge of the second semester cadet teaching which is done by senior members of the club. He attended Indiana Central and I.U., and now holds both a bachelor's and master's degree.

MRS. OZ SCHLOSSER along with the other government teachers and their classes, took part in the mock House of Representatives that was held in the auditorium. She enjoys working with the Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, and flying. She is the sponsor of Warren's chapter of the Red Cross. Mrs. Schlosser attended Auburn and Indiana Universities.

MR. DAVID R. SHAW, varsity football and track coach, instructs students in the course of health and safety. He is also gymnastics coach. Mr. Shaw likes to golf and fish. He attended both Indiana Central and Indiana University where he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees, respectively.

MR. LARRY L. SMITH, architectural drafting and woodworking instructor, co-sponsors the newly-formed boys' Pep Block. Mr. Smith is also the electronics teacher at Warren, and sponsor of the Radio Club. He is fond of all sports, especially swimming. He obtained his bachelor's degree from Indiana State and has attended Indiana University.

MR. CLYDE O. SPEARS has many duties besides being a drafting instructor that keep him busy. As chairman of the Industrial Arts Department, he is responsible for the entire shop program and the purchasing of the various supplies. He received his bachelor's degree from Indiana State and his master's from Butler.

MR. ROLLAND P. SPRUNGER teaches physics and physical science to Warrenites enrolled in these courses. Mr. Sprunger holds degrees from Indiana University, and attended Purdue and Ball State Teachers College. In his spare time he enjoys mechanics, working in the yard, and listening to music.

MISS BETTY STEPHENS instructs first, second, and third year French students in the spoken and written skills of this language. Miss Stephens taught in Africa five years prior to her teaching at Warren. She is the sponsor of the French Club. Miss Stephens attended Marion College and Ball State Teachers College, where she received her degrees.

MRS. VERA SYKES, who is teaching junior English at the present, has taught such courses as math, physical education, and commerce in the past. She is the sponsor of the Dramatics Club and National Thespians. Mrs. Sykes enjoys working with theater groups and with the church. She went to both Butler and Indiana University and has her bachelor's and master's degrees.

Faculty

MR. JOSEPH N. TANSEY teaches algebra and plane geometry to sophomores and juniors. Mr. Tansey sponsors the Chess Club, which provides relaxation and a challenge to its members. Hunting and fishing are among the outdoor activities he enjoys. He received his A.B. in chemistry and his M.A. in math from Indiana University.

MISS DOROTHY C. TEAL, director of publications, instructs classes in journalism and English. She sponsors Quill and Scroll, and supervises The Warren OWL, News Bureau, and the WIGWAM. When away from her classes, she enjoys listening to classical records. Miss Teal was graduated from IU with an A.B. and M.A. in journalism.

MR. LEON E. THOMPSON instructs students in all three years of Latin. During the course, he supervises their annual slave sale and the "trip through Hades." Mr. Thompson is sponsor of the Honor Society. He attended DePauw University where he received his A.B. degree and did advanced study at Butler where he obtained his M.S. degree.

MR. CHARLES O. TREES, as chairman of the Social Studies Department, sends in recommendations to the various colleges that send student teachers to Warren. Mr. Trees teaches both international relations and world history. He is the sponsor of the Alpha Hi-Y Club, and is in charge of the Model U.N. delegates that represent Warren. He received his B.S. from Indiana University, and his M.S. from Butler.

MRS. ROSALIND WHITE is again directing girls in physical education. Because of the uncompleted gymnasium, physical education classes were not held last year. Mrs. White is sponsor of the GAA which participates in such sports as swimming, bowling, and softball. Having attended IU, she received her B.S. degree in physical education.

MR. MORRIS WHITMOYER, United States history and family living teacher, is co-sponsor of the History Club. Hunting, fishing and visiting historical places are some of the extra activities he participates in. He went to both Butler and Ball State Teachers College, where he obtained his bachelor's and master's degrees, respectively.

MR. H. H. WILFONG, in his first year on the faculty, has started Warren's first speech team and is in charge of the new debate team. His classes consist of speech and English students. He studied at Indiana University where he received both his bachelor's and master of science degrees.

MRS. LOIS N. WITTE, librarian, also teaches students interested in the operations of the library through a course in library science. She is sponsor of the Library Science Club, and enjoys reading. Mrs. Witte has received her B.S. and M.S. degrees from Butler and Indiana University.

MR. VAUGHN WOOD has attended Indiana State College, receiving his B.S. degree, and Butler where he obtained his M.S. degree. He has studied at Arizona State College, Purdue and Indiana Universities. Mr. Wood is now instructing boys in physical education. During the summer, he is in charge of the teen canteen recreation. Mr. Wood is an all-sports fan and enjoys fishing and the study of bees.

MRS. NANCY WRIGHT, co-sponsor of the Hi-C Bible Club, teaches the skills of shorthand to the students enrolled in her commerce classes. Mrs. Wright was graduated from Indiana University where she obtained her B.S. degree and is presently doing graduate work at Butler.

Warren's Smooth Operation Begins

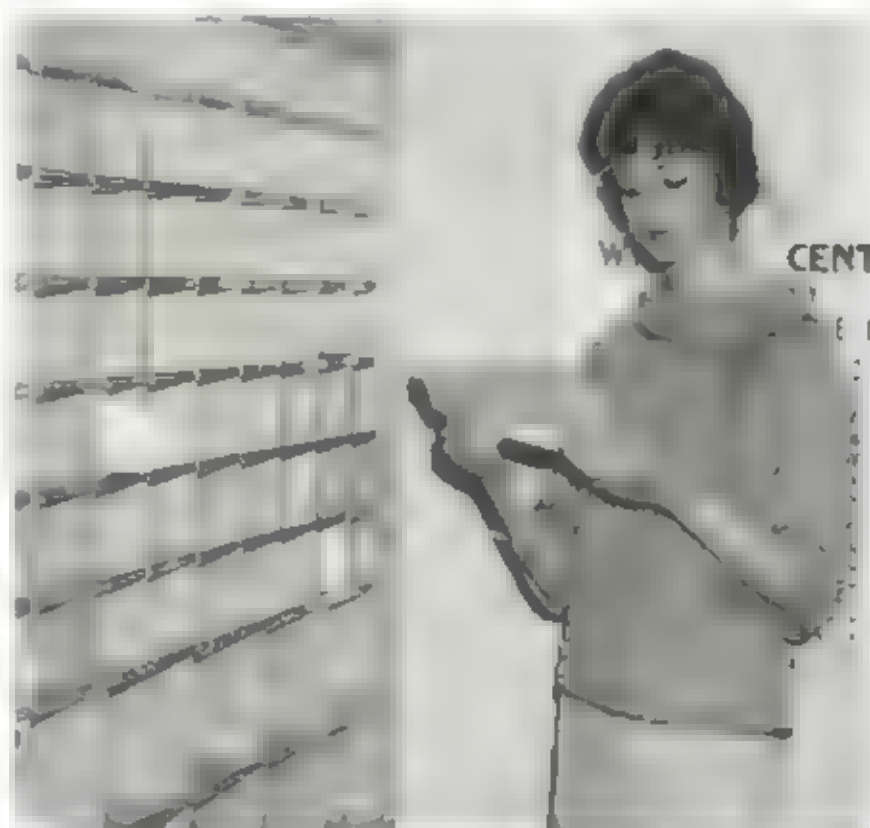

When anyone has a question and he doesn't know who can supply the answer, he goes to the main office. There he finds Mrs. Theodora Pfister, attendance clerk, Mrs. Lois Riser, office clerk, and Mrs. Christine Lawson, secretary to the principal, always ready to help.

All school functions have their beginning or end in the main office. Here, faculty members receive teaching assignments, communicate with colleagues or administrators, and get their pay-checks. Here, may be found a file of every student's permanent scholastic record. Here, too, clubs obtain permission and guidance for their extra-curricular activities.

New equipment in the office helps speed up daily tasks. The switchboard is manned throughout the day by a student assistant, supervised by the staff. A new photo-copier will make quick copies of permanent records or memoranda. The IBM grading system provides volumes of information for the staff to dispense or file. The office supplies teachers with passes, stationery, folders, paper clips, and most anything they need.

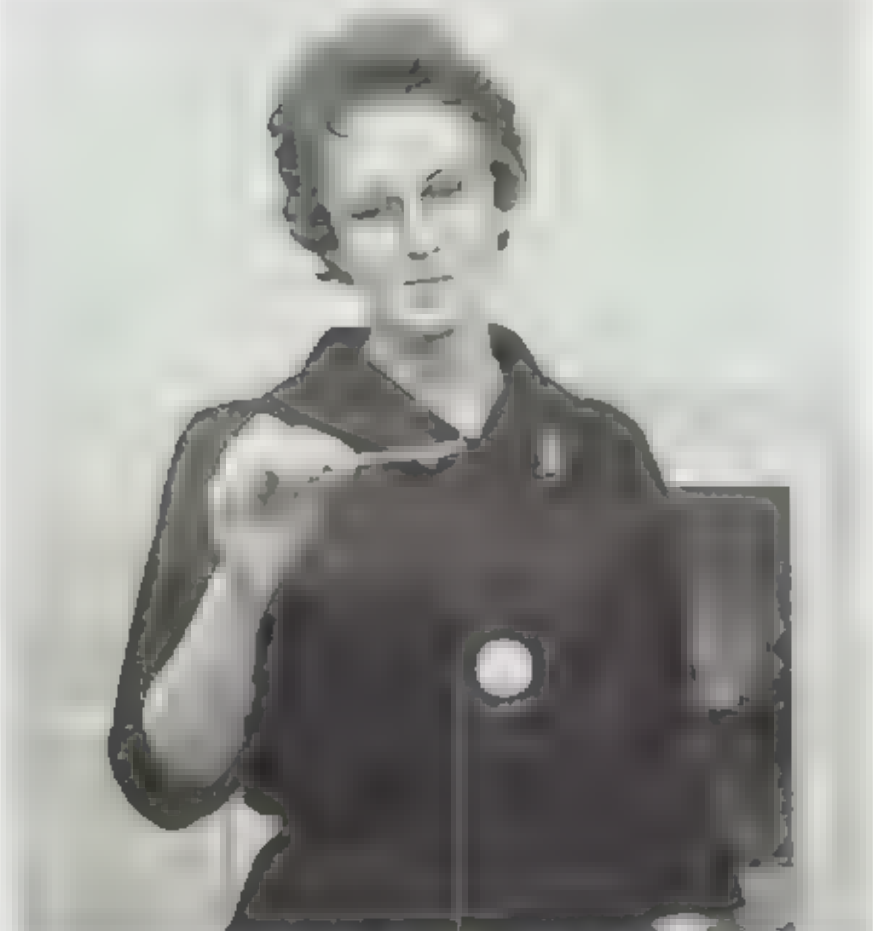

Contributing to make the running of a high school "big business" are the cafeteria, operated under the Federal School Lunch program, and the bookstore. To meet the needs of English and government students, the bookstore sold paper-backed classics to readers with widening tastes.

Warren's faculty and staff start the day by checking their mail boxes in the main office. Mrs. Anita Burns, who joined the English department in January, picks up her mail and the daily bulletin.

With Office and Staff

Helping to give us well-balanced lunches under the Federal School Lunch program are the members of the cafeteria staff. Under the supervision of Mrs. Maude Siebert, the cafeteria serves hot lunches to the students each day. A meat, vegetable, fruit, and milk are theirs for only thirty-five cents. Desserts and extra goodies cost a little extra. Mrs. Kathryn Turner, kitchen supervisor, keeps operations running smoothly.

Headache? Stomach-ache? Stuffs? Go to the health clinic where the school nurse, Mrs. Dora Holmes, will take care of all ills, real or imaginary. Mrs. Holmes also sponsors Future Nurses.

From 8:10 until 3:30 every school day, but mostly before first period and between others, students hurry to the bookstore for supplies and books. Mrs. Erma McClarren, bookstore manager, is always ready to serve them.

Striving to keep our new school looking new and beautiful are the members of the custodial staff. Mr. Paul Jannett, head custodian, supervises the work of the day staff.

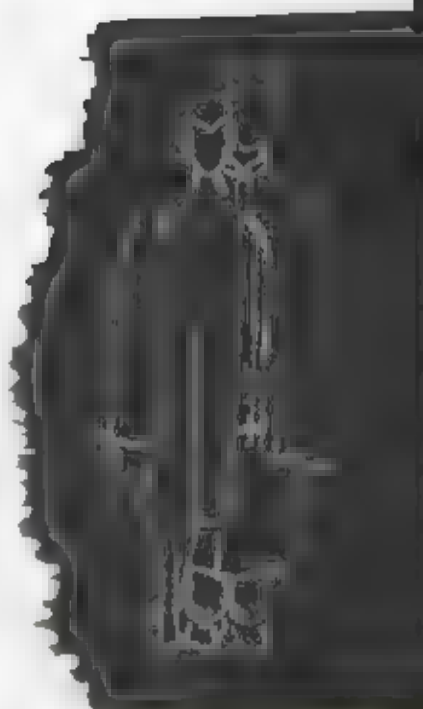

SENIORS

For All Who Achieve...

To the seniors of 1962, Warren means many things. Memories of old Warren have lingered on, but we have learned to meet the changes and challenges of a new school. None would willingly begin again; yet, we look back with a little envy at the underclassmen.

Class Council Leads Seniors to 1962 Finale

Senior Council members represented their class by planning and supervising senior activities and money-making projects with the assistance of Mr. William Glesing, senior class counselor.

The council was responsible for making arrangements for the senior prom and graduation dance. Senior pins, cards, and announcements were ordered through the council, which helped to make money for the class.

Presiding over the council meetings was Ron Voyles, president; with the aid of Sharon Cahill, vice-president; and Carol Cooper, secretary-treasurer.

Senior class officers Ron Voyles, Carol Cooper, and Sharon Cahill pay close attention as Mr. William Glesing, class sponsor, outlines an idea.

Scores of gay & decorated cars overflowing with enthusiastic tourney fans, participated in the police-escorted caravan to the Butler Fieldhouse for the county clash. The caravan swelled the tourney attendance, with more Warriors than ever before attending the games of this oldest of all Hoosier county basketball conflicts. More than 700 Warrenites bought tickets for the January tilt. The tourney allowed us a last fling before semester finals. For seniors, it was doubly important because it was the last time they would be joining their classmates at the Marion County tourney.

It doesn't seem possible! As graduation approached, this was the thought that occupied our minds. We had been so busy with homework, exams, parties, exams, prom, and exams, that we hadn't realized how soon we would be graduating. How could four years pass so quickly? It doesn't seem long ago that we were wide-eyed freshmen scurrying to classes pausing on our way to exchange the latest gossip with friends around the library.

That was the year that fashion trends turned to the chemise, sack dress, blazers, and sweater vests. Ducktails were popping out all over! The popular dance of the year was the Stroll and the annual musical was "Oklahoma." And could you ever forget our Freshman Mixer?

Half-day classes increased our homework burden. Biology classes highlighted our schedules. Sometimes we couldn't tell heads from tails ... especially when dissecting worms. Gym classes separated the men from the boys and the boys from the girls ... The day of the Valentine Tea freshmen girls watched enviously as upperclass girls paraded by in their finery, waiting for the day when they would be able to attend. Guidance classes helped us form plans for our future careers. Everything from ditch-digging to doctoring was considered until we found the one best for our talents.

Our sophomore year brought increased status. No longer were we green "frosh." Now we were sophisticated sophomores!

Raccoon-collared coats, T-strap shoes, and steady shirts bedecked the Warren student body. Hula-hoops and pizza took the populace by storm. The strains of the "Mexican Hat Rock" and "Jupiter III" echoed through our thoughts.

Social activities flew faster than ever, with tourney and sectionals mingling with parties and homework. The girls were excited by the prospect of attending their first Valentine Tea and inviting their mothers to school.

The realization that this was our final year at old Warren saddened us. The library shelf, where we congregated each morning, the ivy-covered walls, the peaceful campus, the historical murals around the library — all these things we were leaving behind. We regretted leaving the scene of our first high school years, where we had learned so much, in class and out of it. The prospect of the change scared us a little, but we were eager for the challenge.

Seniors Diane Wallace, Tim Marsh, and Lynn Strane, Student Council officers, excitedly discuss the success of the all-school Feed-A-Family project. They are preparing to take the Christmas gifts and much-needed food to the chosen family.

The impressive sight of the new Warren brought gasps of surprise from us as we returned to school for our junior year. Along with all the modern improvements something was conspicuously missing ... the freshmen! But we would have had trouble telling the freshmen from the seniors anyway, because we were all lost. Soon we regained our stride and delightedly explored the reading labs, sunny cafeteria, temperamental language labs, modern foyer, spacious gym, and luxurious auditorium. With our new environment came new teachers and traditions.

New activities were also on the agenda. For the first time we had representatives on our own council. We proudly chose our distinctive class rings and anxiously waited and waited and waited for their arrival.

With our senior year comes the difficult decision of which college to attend. Faye Vandercook is "floored" by the array of college catalogues available. At the moment Miami University seems to have caught her eye.

Outstanding seniors Lwynne Bujarsky and Ron Voyles discuss the latest foreign events. Both have attended the Model United Nations and are students of International Relations.

Our junior year also brought tennis shoes, beatniks, trench coats, astronauts, achievement tests, and knee ticklers. Everybody was doing the "Pony" and the "Stomp" to the strains of "Pony Time" and "Quarter 'til Three."

We looked forward to our junior prom with mixed emotions — apprehension, anxiety, and excitement. Girls were plagued by worries — "Will 'he' ask me in time? Will I get that luscious new dress? Oh, catastrophe — what if heels make me taller than he is?" Boys had similar concerns. "What if 'she' won't go with me? I just know I won't have enough money!" But in spite of all these fears, the big night passed without mishap.

Soon after the prom juniors were again studying for final exams along with the rest of the student body. We carefully examined our schedules again, making sure final preparations for senior classes were in order before we left for summer vacation.

Before we knew it, our senior year was upon us. Vacation had passed quickly for most with loafing, working, and swimming to take up our valuable time. We plunged into our senior year with gusto. Although we wouldn't have thought it possible, classes seemed to be getting harder all the time. Seniors were never bored with the helpful information in Family living classes. "Pilgrim's Progress" and Gulliver shared the spotlight with the "Peppermint Twist."

Government classes helped us to acquire a better knowledge of our own government and others. The classes assembled as a mock House of Representatives in the auditorium and followed the regular procedures as the United States House of Representatives does in electing officers for the minority and majority parties, writing bills, debating the bills, and finally voting on the bills.

Ron Waltz, member of the debate team, listens attentively to Linda Loman's speech. Both have won recognition at speech meets and were chosen outstanding seniors.

Hair styles were on the rise this year, as girls coaxed their hair into puffy bubbles. Charm bracelets were jammed with mementos of our high school years, and it wasn't square to have a pair of square-toed shoes.

The dances, parties, ball games, and plays occupied our time. Most of us were also busy comparing college catalogues and trying to decide which college would be lucky enough to get us. "But Mr. Glesing. How could my grade average be that low? I must have more credits than those!" Similar conversations echoed throughout the guidance center.

Around the middle of January, the school became noticeably quiet. But it was nothing serious, just semester exams once again. Spirits revived with the new semester.

In the meantime we were measured for caps and gowns, and some of us began to think we saw the end in sight. In February the girls attended their last Valentine Tea, and we all followed the team to the Sectional Tournament.

Some of us pitched in and helped with the revival of "Moods and Melodies," the variety-vaudeville show. Our senior play, "You Can't Take It With You," gave more of us a chance to get on the other side of the lights.

Spring vacation, the Prom, the Grad Dance — all came in a whirl of activities that made the year seem all too short. Once again, as graduation approached, the anticipated change was a challenge. Funny, but it seems like only yesterday when we were wide-eyed freshmen scurrying to classes

UNDERCLASS

For All Who Strive...

As our classes grew bigger, Warren had to grow to meet our needs. The new building was a step in providing this growth. Our sophomore class is the largest in our history. Our juniors can be proud to say they are the first class to complete three years at new Warren.

ATHLETICS

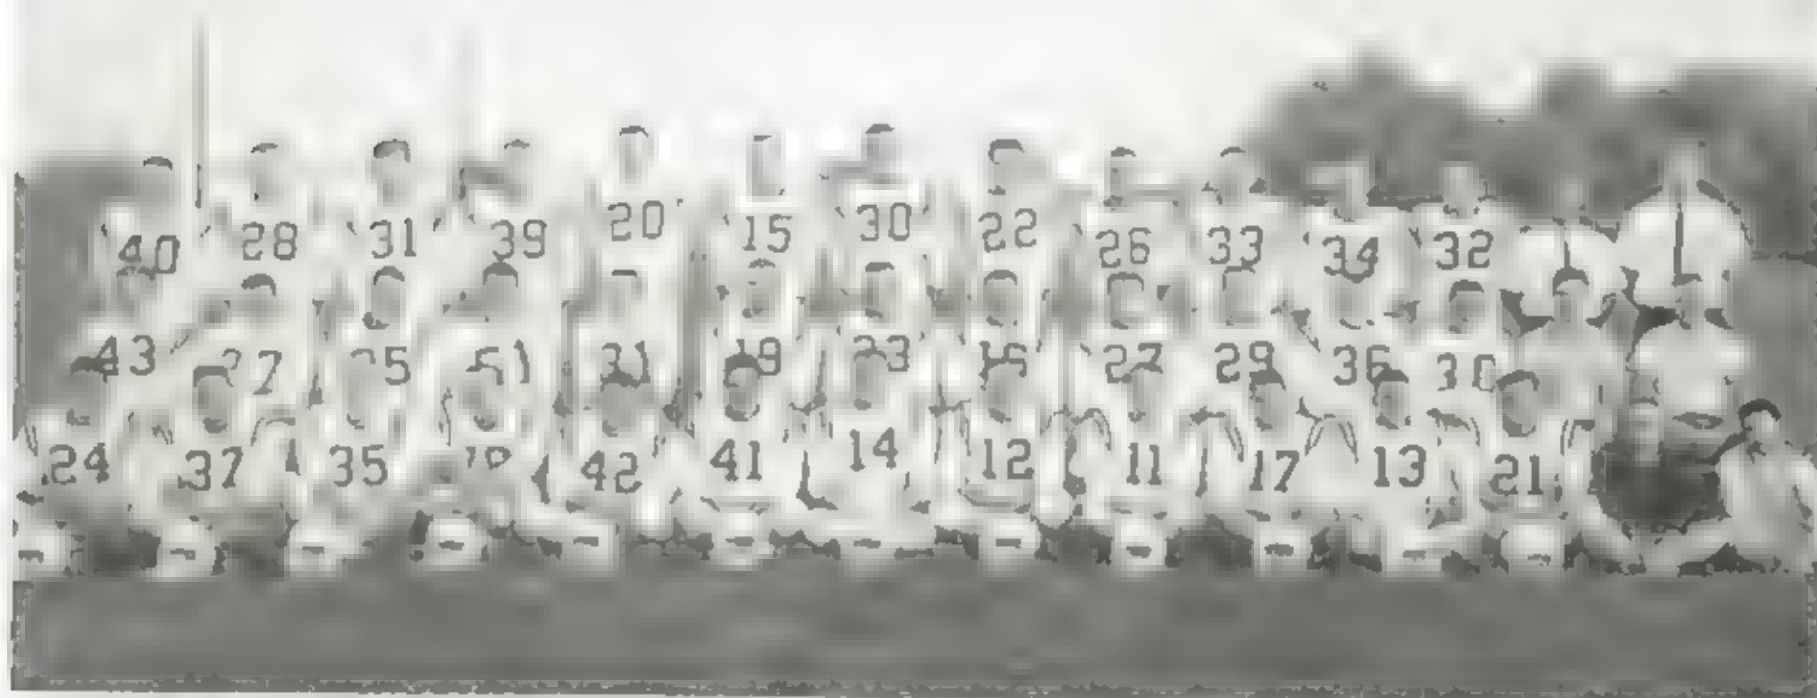

For All Who Compete...

Our spirit and enthusiasm have grown with the new building, gym, football field, and other sports facilities. Whether we were on the team or spectators, we developed a spirit of good sportsmanship. The many activities offered in sports helped to create attitudes of teamwork.

First Time in Eight Years

Wayne Johnson, Don Bak, Jerry Sponcil, Tom Sponcil, Steve Sponcil, Janis Janelina, Jon Leavitt, Gunars Janelina, Mark Leavitt, Assistant Coach Jim Bone, Reserve Coach Alan Miedema.

Varsity Coach Dave Shaw is completing his first year of coaching at Warren. He played football for Purdue as a freshman; then he transferred to Indiana Central College where he played three years of varsity competition.

Coach Shaw's first teaching job was at Indiana Central. He taught two years of physical education, and health and safety, while he coached football and track. After leaving Indiana Central he went to Seymour, Indiana, where he taught for seven years before coming to Warren.

Reserve Coach Alan Miedema, whose reserve team had a winning season with a 4-3 record, graduated from Ball State Teachers College. He has been teaching Drivers Training at Warren for four years. Coach Miedema is also the coach for the tennis team.

The 1961-62 varsity football team has the first winning season Warren has had for eight years. The record was 5-3-1, with losses to Southport, Lawrence, North Central, and a tie with Carmel.

Wayne Johnson, senior, was named "Most Valuable Lineman", and was named a member of the first string all-county. Ron Voyles, senior, was named captain and "Most Valuable Player". He was also a member of the all-county second string. Others receiving honorable mention were the following: Seniors, Jerry and Larry Franke; and juniors, Myron Hinderliter, and Jerry Abernathy.

Behind every team there is a coach. Behind the Warren football team coaches Alan Miedema, Jim Bone, Assistant Coach Paul Conwell, and Head Coach Dave Shaw. In the 1961 outcome, Coach Shaw wound up his first season at Warren with a 5-3-1 record.

Practice a large function of the football team was started off by calisthenics led by different members of the team. After the warm-up exercises they received a great many plays and various techniques by the coaches. Wind sprints climaxed each day.

"In position, in cadence — exercise! One-two, one-two!" was a familiar sound that started off each day's practice. The side-straddled hop commonly known as the jumping jack was one of the many strenuous exercises which the football players did during the practices.

Warren Central's senior halfback, Pin Settles, No. 19, ran around the line and for a gain of seventeen yards during the third quarter of the Warren-Martinsville game. Left guard, Jim Eaton, No. 32, provides blocking for the ball carrier, Charles Hopkins, right guard, No. 28, looks downfield after providing the block that set Settles loose on his seven yard gain from scrimmage.

Many hard workouts brought an excellent team for the game to watch on the home field. Dad, Night, O'Connell, who had enjoyed the game while seated along the sidelines in chair with the team members on them. Warren went on to defeat the Greenfield Tigers, 2-0.

The ups and downs of the game can get a bit more clearly than on the films of the coaches and the players viewing the game from the sidelines.

The Warren Central Warriors' 1961 football season began on the new football field against the Southport Cards. Southport, who later ranked in the top ten teams in the State, overwhelmed the Warriors 21-0.

The Warriors broke into the winners' column in the second game of the still young season by defeating Martinsville 13-6. In their next encounter, the Warriors displayed a sound offensive punch by downing the Ben Davis Giants 25-13.

The Warriors then tied Carmel to give us a 2-1-1 record up to this time. Homecoming, however, the Warriors took defeat from the Marion County Champs, Lawrence Central. The Warriors fought all the way leading at the half, 7-6. A second half rally by Lawrence was started by a field goal which was followed by a touchdown with one minute and 20 seconds left to play in the game. The final results were the Warriors losing a hard fought battle, 7-16.

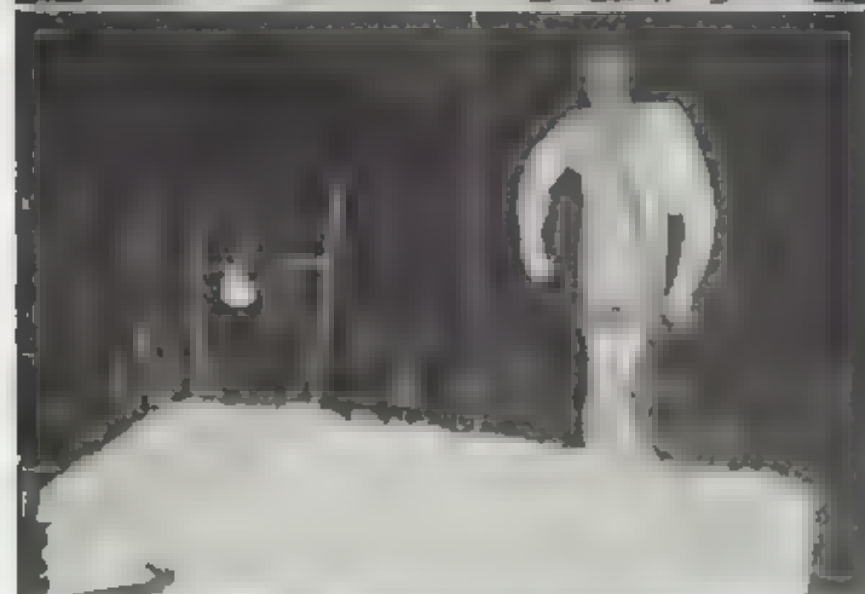

Greenfield was our next victim with the score at the end of the game being in our favor. The following week the Warriors met a highly improved North Central team and took defeat in stride. We were victorious at our next two games—Madison Heights and Howe. Fullback Ron Voyles, one of the leading scorers in the county, played an outstanding game as did all the senior players because this was the last game these boys could play for Warren Central. Ron received the game ball that all the players had signed.

Dave Shaw was provided a winning season his first year at Warren. May we hope that that will be the starting of a tradition at a new Warren Central High School.

The Fall Sports Dance, November 10, featured the distribution of the Varsity and Reserve Football and Cross Country awards. Ron Voyles was the recipient of the Most Valuable Player Award and Wayne Johnson, senior, received the Most Valuable Linebacker Award.

Queen Candidates Highlight Warriors' Homecoming

Last year's queen, Pat Vance, crowns her successor, Linda Loman. Judy Varner, sophomore, and Lynn Strane, senior, look on. Fifty of the senior class donated money and time to the preparation of the spectacular float, 'Boot the Bears.'

During the early autumn days many efforts were put forth to greet the returning alumni at homecoming. This was the third game to be played on the new football turf. The field was completed just days before the opening grid contest of the season. Six 100 foot poles, each with 32 lights, make it one of the most brightly lighted fields in the state — so bright you "almost need sunglasses."

The float was the big result of the combined efforts of 15 clubs. Under the direction of Mrs. Carol Montgomery, assistant dean of girls, members spent hours twisting 10,000 paper napkins around a chicken wire frame. The frame was mounted on a low boy truck which had been provided by a student. The floor of the truck was covered with artificial grass, and towering over the tiny goal posts stood a gigantic 10-foot tall Warrior in all his glory. The theme of the float was "Boot the Bears," and the Warrior had complied, as seen by the hapless bear clinging to the goals.

Giant gold mums were on sale the week before. Members of the Owl staff took orders during lunch hour and later delivered the flowers the day of the game. One of Queen Linda's duties was to present the traveling railroad trophy to Lawrence at the close of the game, which ended in a disappointing 19-7.

Linda Loman, senior, reigned over the half-time festivities of the home-coming game. Two candidates were chosen to represent each class in the election of the 1961-62 home-coming queen. Linda was elected queen. Standing, left to right, are

Pat Vance, last year's queen; Paula Brown, junior; Sissy Fink, junior; Sherry Byard, junior; Lynn Strane, senior; and Judy Varner, sophomore. Linda presented the remainder of the game and the sock hop that followed.

Cross country runners Gary Thompson and Larry Cotton wait for the signal for the start of a practice lap around Warren's athletic track.

Members of the reserve team turning in their equipment are Don Baker, Tom Sponcil, Ronnie Young and James Jones.

Football, Cross Country Initiate Fall Season

This year's "little Warriors" had a winning season with a 4-3 record. The reserve team practices every day just the same as the Varsity players, and with the assistance and guidance of Coach Alan Meehan the team developed some good plays and a tough defense. The reserves feared no one but took defeat from three teams.

Cheers for the reserve games were led by junior, Patty Doty, and sophomores Janice Anderson, Donna Cole, and Darlene Stunkard.

This was a year for rebuilding the cross country team. They were unable to outscore any of their opponents during regular season play, but placed fifth in the county meet.

The team did the best of their abilities under the direction of Coach Virgil Kirkpatrick. This is Coach Kirkpatrick's second year at Warren.

The returning lettermen from the Varsity team will be Gary Thompson, Earl Stener, Kerns Kendall, and Mark Lawrence. These boys will do their best to make the cross country team have a winning season, just as our football boys.

Cheerleaders Back Teams in Major Sports

Many hours of practice went into the new style of cheering that the cheerleaders brought back from the summer camp they attended. All six varsity cheerleaders attended the Smith-Walbridge camp at Syracuse, Indiana. This week was spent in learning fourteen new cheers, gymnastics, and crowd psychology.

The cheerleaders practiced three times a day for two weeks preceding the first home football game. All the cheerleaders are veterans at leading cheers. Linda Strane, Linda Loman and Suzy Sicking have been cheerleaders for four years, Susie Fink for three years, and Diane Wallace and Sharon Cahill for two years.

The reserve cheerleaders were chosen at an all school convocation on September 21.

The cheerleaders lead an almost capacity crowd in chants during one of the Warriors' home games.

Terry Saylor, senior, sees a pass and attempts to stop and wait for the ball to catch up — a Southport player guards him closely.

Smash! Here come the mighty Warriors led by the cheerleaders charging through the home basketball game. Proudly standing and cheering as the team runs onto the floor, the crowd hails their team and urges them on to another victory for Warren.

Team Has Good Season; Crowds Jam Gym

The 1961-62 basketball season started out with a bang! The first six games played were all victories for the Warriors.

The second game of the season, the Warriors played Tech and defeated them for the second time in school history. The victory was an easy one with a margin of eighteen points.

The next thriller which followed was the Washington game. Washington, at that time rated second in the state, defeated the Warriors only after a double-overtime.

Warren drew Southport for the opening game of the County Tourney. The Cardinals, who later became County Champs, defeated the Warriors with a score of 69-51.

Warren was host to North Central for the homecoming game and lost only after an overtime was played. The queen was crowned, and many seniors became sentimental, recalling that this was their last homecoming game while in school.

Broad Ripple defeated the Warriors during the sectional game with a score of 80-53. Ripple went on in the tourney to be defeated by Attucks the following afternoon.

A dance was given on March 8 in honor of the winter sports participants receiving awards. Terry Saylor was elected captain of the basketball team by his fellow team members.

Brad Thompson was the official hoop-keeper of the year. He worked Thursday before the game and was assisted by Lynn Stump, Lynn Stump, and Lynn Stump.

Surrounded by Lawrence players, Lynn took a pass warily around for another Warrior to receive the ball. The Warriors went on to defeat the Bears 1-0.

Trying desperately to block Wayne Johnson's basket is a North Central Panther. This was to no avail for the Panthers, however, for Wayne went on to score another two for the Warriors.

Following the first half of the Warren-North Central game these six lovely queen candidates were escorted onto the floor by senior letterman Lynn Strane, senior, who was crowned queen and reigned over the rest of the evening's activities. Pictured, left to right, are Susie Fink, Sheri Byard, Paula Brown, Queen Lynn, Sharon Cahill, and Rae Jo Waterman.

Winter Sports Queen Crowned During Half-Time

One of the highlights of the basketball season is the Winter Home-coming. This has been a tradition at Warren for many years.

This year's home-coming game was played in the new gym. The Warriors challenged the North Central Panthers only to lose in a heart-breaking overtime. At the end of the regular game the score was tied 62-62, with a final overtime score 70-64. The Warriors just couldn't seem to cope with the Panthers' scoring.

Topping the evening's agenda were six pretty girls, two representing each class. Rae Jo Waterman and Sheri Byard represented the sophomore class, while Susan Fink and Paula Brown were chosen by the juniors. Representing the senior class were Lynn Strane and Sharon Cahill.

These girls were nominated by members of their own classes a week before the "big event." On the day of Home-coming everybody in the school voted for the girl they wanted to wear the crown. Lynn Strane, senior, was the lucky recipient of this honor.

A sock hop was held in the cafeteria following the game in Lynn's honor. All alumni who wished to attend the sock hop were given complimentary tickets.

Any girl would be thrilled to be crowned a queen. Lynn Strane was the senior's choice. She was crowned Winter Sports Queen by her predecessor, Janice Croucher, as her escort Jerry Franke and Susan Fink look on.

Patty Doty, junior; and Donna Cole, sophomore, were chosen at a convocation at the beginning of the school year. They led the reserve teams to victory during the football and basketball seasons. All four cheerleaders attended the Cheerleading Conference at Indiana University, and they wore the traditional squaw outfits at the County Tourney and the Sectional!

Grapplers Show Brawn in Action on Mats

The Warren Central grapplers ended the 1962 wrestling season with a winning record, defeating Secoma, Howe, Bloomington, New Castle, Franklin, Decatur, Madison Heights, and Arlington, and losing only six matches. Coaching the team was James Bose, who was experiencing his first year at Warren.

The Arlington match was held at an all-school assembly, January 4. The score was tied 19-19, approaching the heavyweight match. Jerry Abernathy junior, saved the day for the Warriors by pinning his opponent. The final score was 24-19.

The County Meet was in our new gym. The Warriors ranked fifth in the County, with senior Ben Life winning first place and Eddie Spangler placing second.

The Sectional was the next outstanding event for the grapplers. The boys fought hard and landed a respectable second place. Jim Leming, one of our most outstanding senior wrestlers, achieved a first place in the Regional. Jim has been a varsity wrestler for the Warriors for three years, and has obtained many victories throughout his career.

The Warren mat-men climaxed the season by placing in the State Wrestling Meet for the first time in Warren history. The team copped seventh in the state, while two senior wrestlers, Ben Life and Eddie Spangler, placed second.

Tennis and Gymnastics

Begin at Warren

Gymnastics is the most up and coming sport at Warren since wrestling. This is the first year Warren has had an organized team. The team did very well, however, by placing seventh out of eighteen entries in the state meet.

The team had four scheduled meets this year, winning three of them. The only home meet was against Madison Heights, which the Warriors defeated easily. Most of the team members lacked experience. However, Joe Duncan had participated before, and he assisted Coach Dave Shaw in instructing the boys.

Joe, who was elected captain of the team, did well in the state meet. He placed a highly respectable second in free exercise and fifth in all-around. He missed placing third all-around by only a sixth of a point.

Warren will have much to look forward to in the coming years as boys who have gained experience will represent Warren in this competition.

GYMNASTICS TEAM—(Front Row) John Spilker, Carl Kasen, Bernard McClellen, Tom Shearer, Dwight Smith; (Second Row) Jim Carroll, Joe Duncan, Alberto Rosales, Tom Settles, John Meredith. Joe Duncan, captain of the gymnastics team, demonstrates the reversed lever on the still rings while senior team mates Alberto Rosales, John Spilker, and Jim Carroll watch closely.

The 1961 tennis season was the first in the history of Warren. The boys were inexperienced at playing tennis; therefore, the season was more or less a teaching situation. Mr. Alan Miedema coached the team through a hard and trying season. Every player won a few matches, although the team record at the season end was 2 wins and 9 losses.

The deciding factor of the 1962 matches is that all of the starting five are back for their second year of tennis. Through much diligent practice, the experiences of last year, and the hard work put in by the boys during the summer and fall, hopes are high for a successful season. The first match is played against a big rival, Southport, with tough matches following from Park School, Broad Ripple, Anderson, and Howe.

Spring Gives Rise to Sports Events of Interest

After eight wins and three losses in the 1961 season, the Warren Linksmen anxiously await the coming golf season for 1962. Most anxious were returning senior lettermen Tom Falconbury, Dave Stoner, Richie Martin, and Tom Lowe.

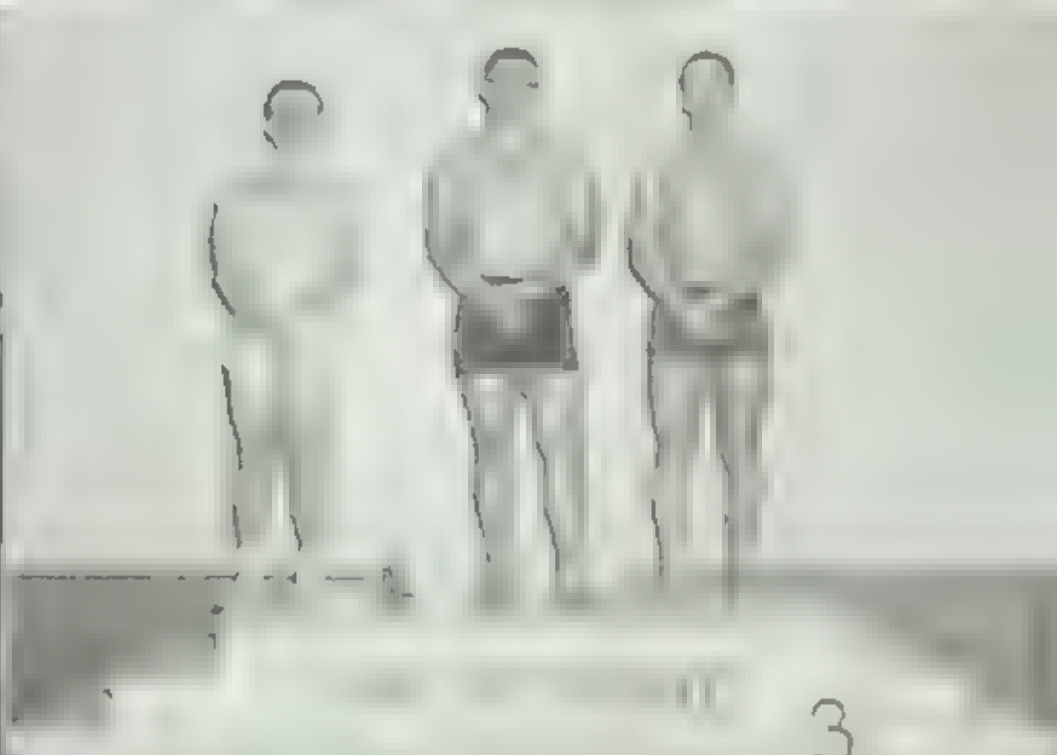

Richie Martin's 78.4 was the team's best overall average last year, when Tom Lowe was team captain. Tom Falconbury fired a 75 to lead the Warriors in the city-county tournament in the fall. The 1962 schedule which includes a trip to Bloomington has the team set for a successful season.

Warren's excellent physical education program revolves around the new gym with its up-to-date equipment and divided classroom space. Mrs. Rosalind White is in charge of the girls, while Mr. Vaughn Wood instructs the boys.

Another first which took place at Warren this year was the election of Ron Voyles as "Mr. Physique," the boy with the best-developed muscles in proportion to his size. Finalists in the three height classes were Charlie Starr and Joe Bowling, short class; Ron Voyles and Ronnie Van Lue, medium; and Emil Daggy and Carl Kassen, tall class.

Below, left, Tom Engle shows the correct use of the safety belt. This belt is used in assisting a boy or girl in learning to do front and back flips. Holding the belt are seniors Calvin McKinley and Ralph Brown. Below, right, these three boys were tops in the "Mr. Physique" contest held for the first time in March. Charlie Starr placed second, Ron Voyles, first, and Joe Bowling was third.

All May Compete in Intra-Murals, G.A.A.

Intramural basketball is an extra-curricular activity for boys who are interested in the sport but who don't participate in varsity play. The games were played throughout the basketball season on Monday nights under the supervision of Coach Alan Miedema. The champion teams in each intramural league represent their respective divisions of seniors, juniors, and sophomores. In the senior league the champs were the Screwdrivers; the Clod Hoppers won for the juniors; and the undefeated Aces topped the list for the sophomores.

The Girls' Athletic Association participated in various sports throughout the year. Basketball and gymnastics were played with other schools. The bowling league was another highlight of the year. Each girl has a chance to work toward receiving a state plaque if she participates in five sports and receives 100 points in all of these. At the Mother and Daughter Banquet in May, the girls who have earned awards will receive them.
